SENATE RATIFIES NAVAL LIMITATION TREATY 74 TO 1

NINE BUILDINGS TO COST TOTAL OF $7,040,000 WILL
BE STARTED SOON

About Half of Construction Work, However, Depends on Acceptance of Wage Reductions by Majority or All of Labor Unions in Building Trades.

$2,000,000 ADDITION TO JEFFERSON HOTEL

Lyman T. Hay Says Work May Start About June 1—Many More Projects Held Up Until Labor Cost Goes Down.

A canvass by the Post-Dispatch today disclosed that nine projected large buildings, to cost a total of approximately $7,040,000, erection of which has been delayed by the high cost of construction labor, material, or for other reasons, will be started in the near future, but that about half of this work depends on the acceptance of reduced wages by a majority or all of the nine important building unions that are still opposing lower wages.

The buildings to be started soon depending in three cases on further acceptance of reduced wages, are: Jefferson Hotel addition, $2,000,000; New South Side high school, $1,500,000; New Jewish Hospital, $1,300,000; Low's State Theater, $700,000; Municipal Farm for Feeble-Minded, $350,000; Koch Hospital addition, $320,000; United Hebrew Temple, $250,000; New Catholic high school for boys, $250,000; Crown Millinery Co. building, $200,000.

The projects which depend still on labor reductions are the Jefferson Hotel addition, Jewish Hospital and Crown Millinery Co., totaling $3,500,000.

Jefferson Hotel Addition. Lyman T. Hay, secretary-treasurer of the Hotel Jefferson Co., said that work on the 13-story addition to the hotel would probably start by June 1, but that it was desired to see some further decline in building labor cost before the contract would be let. He said that the work might start as early as May 1. The addition is to occupy the northeast corner of Thirteenth and Locust streets, and will be of the same number of stories as the existing structure, which was built in 1905. The addition will virtually double the number of guest rooms, making a total of about 800. It was originally expected to cost about $2,000,000, but declining prices have enabled the present estimate of $2,000,000.

New High School to Be Started. The success of the school tax proposal at the special election yesterday makes it possible to prepare for the new high school in South St. Louis, Building Commissioner Milligan of the Board of Education said, and bids on that work will be called in about two months. The work would start several weeks later, he added. The building will occupy a city block, fronting on Hartford street, between Louisiana and Common avenues. It will take two years to complete it.

The new Jewish Hospital, to be on the east side of King's highway, between Forest Park boulevard and Parkview place, will be started by May 1, or soon thereafter. Aaron Waldheim, president of the hospital, stated, provided that a large majority of the building trades indicate they will accept lower wages. Waldheim thought that the carpenters would be one of the trades to take a reduction, if this work is to start.

Low's Theater Project. A New York architect representing the chain of theaters will be here tomorrow or Friday to confer with the contractors who bid on the project. Low's State Theater, for the northeast corner of Eighth street and Washington avenue, R. King Kauffman, a vice president and manager of the real estate department of the Mercantile Trust Co., said. The contract probably will be awarded within a few days.

Mary Garden III in San Francisco. By the Associated Press. SAN FRANCISCO, March 29.—Mary Garden, general director of the Chicago Grand Opera Company, who was to have sung in the opera "Love of Three Kings" at the Civic Auditorium here last night, was unable to leave her hotel because of illness. Her condition, which was not believed to be serious, resulted from a cold contracted while on the way here from Portland, Ore.

SIAMESE TWINS STILL IN SHADOW OF DEATH

Operation to Separate Sisters Is Contingent Upon Death of One.

CHICAGO, March 29.—Death still lurked in the shadows of the hospital room today where Josefa and Rosa Blazek, the twins who were joined at birth and have been called the "Siamese twins." They continued in virtually an unconscious state, Josefa entirely oblivious to her surroundings, and Rosa in a comatose condition.

The long considered operation to separate the sisters is entirely contingent on the death of one, which, physicians have said, would mean the death of the other. Should Josefa die of the yellow jaundice, which has stricken both, Rosa might possibly live two or three days, but death would be certain without an operation, Dr. Benjamin Breakstone said.

Result Problematical. The mere separation of flesh and bone would be easy, according to the physicians, but the effect of the operation upon the mental and nervous systems has been considered highly problematical.

Each of the sisters has individual heart, lungs and stomach. Josefa, who was stricken first, is most desperately ill. The disease was communicated to Rosa.

Josefa's Temperature Rises. Until last night the temperature and pulse of the twins had been virtually identical. But last night Josefa's temperature mounted to 99 and her pulse to 100, while Rosa's temperature and pulse remain about normal at 98 and 85, respectively.

An attorney has been at the twins' bedside ready to write their wills should they become conscious. Rosa's 12-year-old son, Frantz, and the mother's brother, Frank, remain constantly at the bedside.

MAY BE DROPPED

Prosecutor Says That in View of Jury's Action It Is Not Worth While to Offer Evidence Again.

FRIENDS CARRY HIM OUT ON SHOULDERS

Sports Promoter and Gambler Accused by Immature Girl Hugs His Lawyer on Hearing Verdict.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, March 29.—George L. (Tex) Rickard, who was acquitted at 12:20 o'clock this morning of a charge of criminal misconduct with an immature girl, one of two indictments found on evidence presented by a girl in the custody of the Children's Society, probably will not be prosecuted on the remaining charges.

Cheers greeted the news of acquittal. The jury retired at 10:47 and passed 93 minutes in consideration of the evidence, exactly the same period, it happened, that Justice Wasservogel used for his instructions to the jury, from 9:15 to 10:30.

"Prior to this trial," said Max D. Steuer, chief of counsel for Rickard, "Assistant District Attorney Picora agreed not to prosecute the indictment against Rickard provided the present trial should result in an acquittal."

May Not Try Other Cases. After the jury had reported its findings, Picora said: "I want to look over the proofs of the other cases before I come to any definite decision. I haven't had time to consider them yet, as I have concentrated on this one case. Out of the indictments, the one tried today and the one charging abduction of Nellie Gasko are predicted on virtually the same set of allegations. I think it fair to state that, in view of the jury's decision, I would not consider it worth while to submit these same facts to another jury on the abduction indictment."

Rickard's face lighted up, and he turned and hugged his lawyer with an Albert O. Hoy, foreman, announced the jury's verdict. Justice Wasservogel had prohibited any demonstration by the few persons in the courtroom yelled "Hurray!" and the cheer was taken up outside in greater volume.

When Rickard with Steuer marched down the stairs to leave the courthouse throngs gathered about them. Men picked up Rickard and bore him on their shoulders to his taxi.

Pecora was one of the first to congratulate the acquitted sports promoter. Rickard thanked the newspaper men who had reported the trial, saying he did not know any of them personally, but "they had given him a fifty-fifty break, and that was fair enough for any man."

Compared to Craps Game. "Boys, I have shot craps for $35,000 a roll, and I was never in any greater suspense than when the jury returned to the courtroom," Rickard told reporters.

"Did you see the poker faces they had on?" Later Rickard explained that he played his $35,000 game with a man named Carstairs in Philadelphia. A telephone message to his wife, who is ill, was the first act of Rickard after his acquittal.

Rickard was summoned to the bar when the verdict had been announced, and was told that he was at liberty on bail, which would be continued pending disposal of the other indictment found against him. This second indictment was commonly discussed during the trial as much weaker than the one tried.

EDDIE RICKENBACHER RIDES 2
NIGHTS AND DAY IN DRESS SUIT

Excites Comment of Fellow Passengers After Escape From Denver Dinner Party "Plot."

Eddie Rickenbacher, who brought down more German planes than any American air fighter in the world war, was in St. Louis yesterday, wearing a new suit which he acquired under unusual circumstances.

A few nights ago in Denver he made a dinner address before an audience of about 100, and suddenly he was before a trial, and hurried to the station in a taxicab without having time to take his baggage. He was in evening dress. On his ride of two nights and a day to St. Louis, he excited much comment on the train because he was wearing dress at all hours.

He wired ahead to a friend in Waco who met him at the railroad station with a lot of new clothes.

Rickenbacher departed last night for Detroit where he is interested in an automobile manufacturing company.

FOREIGN-BORN WHITES 13 PCT.

Natives of Germany Numbered 20,089—Russia Second With 13,067.

Foreign-born whites persons made up 13.3 per cent of the 1920 population of St. Louis, according to a special report of the United States census, made public today.

The 1920 census showed a total of 732,887 inhabitants of St. Louis. The special report shows that of this number 103,239 were foreign-born white, and that of the latter number, 85,718 were 21 years old or more, and 55,439 were naturalized.

The number of natives of Germany, 30,089, was larger than that of the natives of any other foreign country. Russia was second, with 13,067, Ireland third with 9,244, Italy fourth with 9,067 and Hungary fifth with 6,637.

SHORTER SERMONS IN CAMPAIGN FOR CHURCH MEMBERS

Four Weeks' Trial of Talks Not Exceeding 22 Minutes to Be Made in Episcopal Churches.

PLAN AGREED UPON
AFTER BALLOTING

Laymen at Meeting of Associated Vestries Say They Had Been Tired by Long Discourses.

Episcopal laymen who have been tired by long sermons expressed themselves to this effect last night at a meeting of the Associated Vestries of the Episcopal Churches of this diocese, and voted in favor of a four weeks' trial of sermons not to exceed 22 minutes, beginning the first Sunday after Easter, as a feature of a membership testimonial campaign to Bishop Tuttle.

Clergymen present good naturedly concurred in the views of the laymen, and the short sermon was so ordered. While this action does not presume to lay down a hard and fast rule to govern the clergyman who may have something to elaborate upon at length, it may become a general rule in the Episcopal Church here should its practice result in a large attendance at sermon services.

Iowa Bishop Sanctions View. Bishop Longley of Iowa, who was at the meeting, supported the view of the vestrymen that sermons oftentimes were uncomfortably long, and possibly conducive to fatigue. The discussion reminded him of an incident in his diocese.

A clergyman in an Iowa church, he said, one Sunday spoke brilliantly for about 10 minutes and suddenly ended with a lame conclusion. He explained after the service to a vestryman that he intended preaching a longer sermon, but his pup had cut most of his manuscript. "There ought to be a few pups in this diocese," the Bishop good-naturedly remarked.

Complain of Ennui. With the Bishop on their side, the vestrymen, who had approached the subject rather timidly, grew bolder, and one arose to remark that long sermons gave him the fidgets; another said something about ennui, and still another complained that the rector actually talked 45 minutes on one occasion and he was fearful lest a sermon of same length be repeated.

The discussion here turned upon attendance at services, but the long sermon would not down. The church holds a communion service at 7:30 a. m., at which no sermon is preached, and it appears that this is the popular service in parishes.

The 11 o'clock service, of which the sermon is a part, it was pointed out, has never been so popular. Perhaps, it was suggested, a short, snappy sermon would increase attendance at the later service. The laymen would like to see it tried, they said.

Ballot on Sermon Length. Then the vote was taken, each layman writing on the ballot what length of sermon he preferred. When the ballots were examined it was found that they liked sermons of from 10 to 35 minutes in duration, the average being 22 minutes.

Acting Dean Wilkins, of Christ Church Cathedral, asked whether, if the short sermon rule were placed in effect, the vestrymen would pledge themselves to attend the sermon service. The vestrymen said they would, and passed a resolution to that effect. It was announced that, in the four weeks after Easter, each layman would be asked to bring a new member into the church. The membership campaign is planned as a testimonial to Bishop Tuttle.

Still in View Not "Moonshine" One.

By the Associated Press. CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 29.—A still, found in a garden in full sight of a public road, cannot be considered a "moonshine still" within the meaning of the law, according to a decision of the Supreme Court, which has ordered a new trial for Burton Cooke. The defendant was convicted of maintaining a "moonshine still" in Boone County and was sentenced to two years' imprisonment.

Warrants to Be Sought Charging Him With Graft Attempt and Impersonating Federal Officer.

James V. Gilsinn, a special policeman who has been on duty at the Newstead avenue station, was suspended last night, and Chief of Detectives Hoagland announced today that he would apply for a Federal warrant charging Gilsinn with impersonating a Federal officer, and for a State warrant charging attempted extortion.

Louis Gzesiak, proprietor of a saloon at 520 Hickory street, has made a statement to the police charging that Gilsinn visited his place at 3 p. m. yesterday, took him into a rear room and said that he was a Government agent, that he had a Federal search warrant for the place, and would search it unless Gzesiak would give him $50.

Gzesiak said Gilsinn exhibited a typewritten document, saying it was a search warrant. Gzesiak said he had no money, and asked Gilsinn to return later, and Gilsinn left.

At the time when Gilsinn entered the Hickory street place, he was supposed to be on duty at the Eugene Field School, Olive street and Taylor avenue.

Gzesiak said another man had entered the place a few minutes before Gilsinn arrived, and that Gilsinn searched this man.

When he left, according to Gzesiak, Gilsinn said he would be back the next day, but instead he returned at 7 o'clock last night, and the other man was again there. Gzesiak said the other man advised him to give Gilsinn "a few dollars," and that Gilsinn renewed his demand, but Gzesiak said he had no money, and when Gilsinn and the other man started away, Gzesiak sent for a policeman, who arrived in time, to question Gilsinn and the other man.

ELECTRICAL ENGINEER SUES
HENRY FORD FOR $11,000,000

Miami Man Alleges He Has Not Been Paid in Full for Use of Magneto Invention.

By the Associated Press. MIAMI, Fla., March 29.—Edward S. Huff, Miami electrical engineer, in a suit filed here today, asks for $11,000,000 damages from Henry Ford, alleging the Detroit manufacturer has not paid him in full for use of his magneto invention in the manufacture of automobiles.

Counsel for Huff today decried word from Fort Meyers that notice of the suit had been served there on Ford at his winter home. Huff says he holds the patents on the magnetos used on all motor equipment manufactured by the Ford Motor Co. and asserts he had been paid only $10,000 in royalties on his patent. When the last payment was made, he charged, there was attached a voucher stating the check was payment in full for the invention.

According to Huff's counsel, Huff was employed in the Ford plant in 1908 as an electrician and was asked by Ford to construct a magneto which would work on a fly wheel. Huff, it was said, left Ford's employ to work on the invention and finally perfected the magneto now in use. He said he assigned his patent to Ford on an agreement that he was to receive 50 cents royalty on each of the first 20,000 machines manufactured. This part of the agreement was carried out, but Huff, asks for royalties on machines manufactured since.

MELLON ASKS FORD ABOUT

Treasury Department Said to Be Unable to Find Record of Such a Payment.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, March 29.—Secretary Mellon has written Henry Ford, inquiring as to the reported return of $29,000,000 in war profits to the country by the Detroit manufacturer, it was said today at the Treasury.

Reports that Ford had made such a return to the Government were understood to have been investigated by the Treasury, which was unable to locate the reported refund.

Mellon, it was declared, had received an acknowledgment of his letter from Ford's secretary just before Ford left for the South, but it was understood that an explanation of the reported transaction had not been made.

SOVIET DELEGATES REACH RIGA

First Stage of Trip to Genoa Conference Is Completed.

By the Associated Press. RIGA, March 29.—The members of the Russian soviet delegation to the Genoa conference, all apparently in excellent spirits, arrived here today on the first stage of their journey to Italy. Soldiers and police were on guard at the station. George Chicherin, the soviet Foreign Minister and head of the delegation in the absence of Premier Lenin, greeted the Latvian officials on the platform.

The soviet party was accompanied from the frontier by 24 Latvian soldiers, riding in a coach attached to the rear end of the special train. Despite the efforts made to keep the time of the delegation's arrival secret, because of reports of plots against the soviet representatives, a considerable crowd had assembled outside the station.

Idaho "Irreconcilable" Praises Washington Conference for What It Did, But Declares Much Remains to Be Accomplished.

By CHARLES G. ROSS. Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—The wedge being driven into the isolationist bloc in the Senate was hammered deeper this afternoon by the action of the Senate in ratifying the five-Power naval limitation treaty by a vote of 74 to 1.

Senator France, Republican of Maryland, cast the only negative vote. Forty-eight Republicans and 26 Democrats voted for the treaty.

The taking of the vote was preceded by a desultory debate in which the achievements of the arms conference were extolled by Republicans and minimized by Democrats.

France of Maryland, a bitter and "irreconcilable" under all conditions delivered a long speech to a sparse attendance in the galleries and half a dozen Senators. He declared that the United States, in the face of the "hatred" with which it was regarded by the great imperialistic nations of the world, ought to safeguard itself with the greatest navy.

Explains Minority's Stand. Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi, chief Democratic spellbinder, made some political medicine for the coming campaign. He denied that the Democrats, in their fight on the four-Power Pacific treaty, had been actuated by partisanship. They opposed it, he said, because they thought it an alliance and because the Robinson amendment was voted down. Had that been accepted, he said, that not more than half a dozen votes would have been cast against ratification. Harrison said the Democrats were now trying in a spirit of co-operation, to expedite the passage of the remaining treaties.

"This naval treaty," he said, "is better than nothing. It will mean some saving for the American taxpayer. I am for it—enthusiastically for it."

Edge, Republican of New Jersey, followed with a campaign speech on the other side, in the course of which he took a rap at the League of Nations.

King of Utah, Democrat, answering Edge, declared that the American people were greatly disappointed at the failure of the Washington conference to do more than it did.

He said that there would be little, if any, reduction in the cost of the navy to the American people under the 5-5-3 ratio. For the coming fiscal year, King predicted, the cost would be $400,000,000 and for the next 10 years not fall below $350,000,000. King defended the League of Nations against the charge of failure to accomplish anything.

Calls Democrats Inconsistent. Continuing the political controversy, Lenroot of Wisconsin, Republican, berated the other side for "inconsistency" in supporting the League of Nations and shying away from the four-Power pact.

The vote came at 3 o'clock, with both sides completely talked out. Under the naval limitation treaty, destined probably to be the most far-reaching achievement of the Washington arms conference, the United States, Great Britain, Japan, France and Italy agree to build no new capital ships for 10 years, except in the case of two ships which Great Britain is permitted to build as compensation for the retention of the

TO PER CENT WAGE CUT BY HOISTING ENGINEERS VOTED

Action Taken Without Any Pressure From Master Builders to Help Start Building Program.

REDUCTION TO BE EFFECTIVE AT ONCE

Union of About 100 Members Eighth Building Craft to Break Away From $1.25 an Hour Scale.

The Hoisting Engineers' Union, which has about 100 members, voted last night to reduce wages 10 per cent, effective at once, from $1.25 to $1.12 1/2 an hour. This is the eighth important union in the building trades to break from the basic scale of $1.25 an hour proposed by the Building Trades Council.

The hoisting engineers took this action without any pressure from the Master Builders' Association, and did so, according to P. J. Bryce, business agent, to help start the building program of St. Louis that is being held back by high costs, chiefly of material and labor. This union is one of those that voted solidly in a recent referendum conducted by the Building Trades Council against a 20 per cent wage reduction proposed by the building contractors.

Bryce said the reduction to $1.12 1/2 an hour would not affect the wage of apprentices, who serve four years at a maximum wage of 85 cents an hour. He added that the organization would go along at $1.12 1/2 an hour without a signed contract with the building contractors.

The general contractors and architects have asserted that it was necessary to the success of any building program to get this union to live as to wages for the reason that no large building could be raised beyond the second floor without their services. They work for the most part on apartments of more than two stories and on all larger buildings, and rarely work on residence structures.

The other unions that have reduced wages recently are the painters, decorators, paperhangers, glaziers, cement finishers, ironworkers and building laborers. Those that have not taken any action and which are still receiving $1.25 an hour are the carpenters, plumbers, electricians, steamfitters and sheet metal workers. The plasterers, the highest paid of all building craftsmen, receive $1.37 1/2 cents an hour and also have taken no action.

It was erroneously stated in the Midday and Home editions of today's Post-Dispatch that the hoisting engineers had accepted a 20 per cent reduction.

CARPENTERS OBTAIN AN UNCONDITIONAL WAGE CONFERENCE

The Carpenters' District Council, composed of 60 delegates from the various carpenters' unions, last night discussed the letter from the Master Builders' Association yesterday inviting the carpenters to wage conferences and authorized its executive board to confer today with E. J. McMahon, executive secretary of the Master Builders' Association, with a view to arranging a formal conference. The carpenters' executive board is empowered to make a compromise proposal, if necessary, to forestall the wage scale of 95 cents an hour for carpenters beginning April 1, which the builders have announced would be put in effect Saturday.

After a conference with the union committee today, McMahon announced that an agreement had been reached to begin wage conferences with the union leaders at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow in the new quarters of the Master Builders' Association, sixth floor, Chamber of Commerce Building.

Union carpenters have been receiving $1.25 an hour since July, 1929, and the unions recently rejected in a referendum vote a proposed reduction of 20 per cent, to $1 an hour. The builders then announced that, beginning April 1, the carpenters would be paid a maximum wage of $1 an hour. This brought a statement from the unions that this scale would not be accepted, and the builders yesterday invited the unions to confer.

The invitation to confer contains the proviso that acceptance of the invitation will carry with it an agreement to accept a 95 cent an hour pending the outcome of the conference and the promise is made that any wage agreed upon will be retroactive as of April 1.

The union delegates last night objected to this condition and their Executive Board today will ask that it be eliminated and that the conference be entered without restrictions.

East Side Cement Workers and Plasterers Accept 15 Per Cent Cut.

Cement finishers, members of the Plasterers and Cement Finishers' Local No. 80, of East St. Louis, have agreed to accept a reduction in wages of 15 per cent, effective April 1, according to an announcement of Samuel McCrary, business agent of the local. The cement finishers have been receiving $10 a day, and the reduction is to $8.50. Foremen who have been receiving $11 a day will receive $9.50 a day. About 20 men

VINCENT KERENS LOSES HIS APPEAL FROM A $25 FINE

Penalty for Disturbing Peace of Former Chief of Detectives

Is Upheld. Vincent Kerens, 45 years old, who was fined $25 for disturbing the peace of James H. Smith of 4521 Newberry terrace, former Chief of Detectives, lost his case when it was tried on appeal in the Court of Criminal Correction today. The fine was sustained.

Smith is the guardian of Kerens' brother, Richard, who is a patient in the Alexian Brothers' Hospital. The testimony of the same given in police court, was that Kerens, on coming here from New York and visiting his brother, called up Smith and complained of the way that Richard was being cared for and threatened to kill him, and sent him a letter, inciting a safety razor blade.

Kerens admitted calling up Mr. Smith and saying somebody ought to kill his husband, and threatening the alleged threats and sending the letter. He is a son of the late Richard C. Kerens, who was Ambassador to Austria-Hungary in the Taft administration.

FIVE PERSONS ARE FINED AS RESULT OF CAFE FIGHT

Throwing of Tableware in Restaurant on Olive Street Sent Five to Hospital.

A tableware bombardment at 1 a. m. March 19, in Robinson's restaurant, 3561 Olive street, that sent five persons to the city hospital for first aid, resulted today in fines of $15 for four of the bombarders and a fine of $30 for Abe Hoffmann, who neglected to come to police court.

Miss Agnes Leigh, cashier, said that Chauncey Gavin, 4111 Westminster place, who was with Hoffmann, knocked down a man at another table, and that all the men at Gavin's table began throwing cups, plates, dishes and carafes impartially at the walls and at the 50 customers, who sought shelter under tables and behind improvised barricades.

Strohmman A. Knuckstedt said that while he entered, Martin Walsh, 5834 A Delmar boulevard, threw six-pot carafes at him from behind a pool table and Henry Fredericks, 2755 North Garrison avenue, assaulted him with a coffee cup, while Hoffmann, 2402 Bellegrada avenue, threw a glass of beer at him. ## BUILDING OF MORE SCHOOLS ASSURED BY VOTERS' ACTION

Proposition to Continue Tax Rate of 85 Cents on $100 Valuation Carried by 33,103 to 11,467.

INCOME OF $10,000,000 NEXT YEAR FORECAST

President of Board of Education Says Steps Will Be Taken to Lower Rate in Event of Surplus.

The Board of Education can now go ahead with its building program and can keep up the present wide use of the schools as community centers, President Tobin announced today, as a result of the passage of the special election yesterday of the proposal to maintain the school tax for the next four years at the present rate of 85 cents on the $100 valuation.

The proposal was passed by a vote of 33,103 to 11,467, a plurality of nearly 3 to 1, while a majority would have sufficed. The total vote cast was 44,570, as compared with a vote of 58,089 when the present rate was first voted, April 8, 1921, carrying by about the same plurality.

Had the proposal been defeated the school tax would have dropped to the basic rate of 60 cents. The Legislature last year made it possible for the school tax rate to be continued above the basic rate for four years instead of one year.

Income to Be About $10,000,000. Tobin estimated that the income of the Board of Education for the fiscal year, which begins next month, will be about $10,000,000. The State Board of Equalization has not determined the exact valuation to be fixed on St. Louis property, nor has the valuation of utility corporations been fixed for taxation.

Tobin said that should the assessed valuation in St. Louis increase during the four-year period the Board of Education would take steps to reduce the rate as the Attorney-General has declared it has the power to do; and if a surplus should later appear in the board's funds, even though valuation does not increase, the school tax rate could be reduced.

Schools to Be Built. In a statement to the Post-Dispatch today, Tobin said: "The people of St. Louis on the passage of this proposal, it means that the taxpayers of the city have faith in the public schools, which now can continue to progress in their work."

"The building program will now be taken up and schools provided where needed. We will immediately start to build the new South Side high school, and we will build a new North Side high school when we are enabled to do so. We planned to erect the latter on the site of Cardinal Park, but this is dependent on the action of the Board of Aldermen in vacating streets and alleys there, as we have asked. Each of these high schools will accommodate 3,000 pupils and cost about $1,500,000."

"These new buildings will relieve the great congestion in the high schools now. Probably McKinley and Yeaman high schools will be utilized for intermediate grades, giving instruction in the city high school system. Two grade schools will be built soon, too. We are not prepared to state definitely what the building program will be, but we will build more schools as the need arises."

"The board can also keep up the wide use of the schools as community centers. This work increases automatically, for one thing leads to another. The Americanization work and the night schools are among the present 'outside' uses."

Contracts to Be Let Soon. Building Commissioner Millikan said that a contract for the South side high school probably would be let within two months. It is to be on the block bounded by Hartford and Wyoming streets, Louisiana and Compton avenues. Equipment for each of the high schools will cost about $175,000. The new Long School, Morganford road, near Gravois avenue, and the new Walbridge School, in the northwestern industrial district, each of these will be let soon. The new McKinley and Yeaman high schools will be utilized for intermediate grades, giving instruction in the city high school system. Two grade schools will be built soon, too. We are not prepared to state definitely what the building program will be, but we will build more schools as the need arises."

"The board can also keep up the wide use of the schools as community centers. This work increases automatically, for one thing leads to another. The Americanization work and the night schools are among the present 'outside' uses."

Sluiter Prediction Made. Sluiter in conclusion made a statement that possibly was of significance. He said: "The time will come when the Rickard chapter will be written and the final litigation in this case will be over—and our verdict in this case is whether or not a very small part of it."

Prosecutor Pecora is a decidedly contrasting figure to Sluiter. A small, swarthy young man, whose voice thunders rather than whispers, he had the first chance at the jury and talked nearly four hours.

"The thing that is on trial here," he said, "is whether or not girls of 12, 13, 14 and 15 years of age shall be prey to men of mature age. The question in this case is whether or not children of poverty-stricken homes shall be taken away from all that is pure and wholesome to fall victims of men of world experience."

Rickard said at his home today that he intended to keep Mackay Square Garden and all the rest of his sporting interests.

"I am going to look into the proposition for acquiring the Coliseum in St. Louis," he said. "I may take it, and I may not. It all depends on prospects."

cost about $255,000, have 25 rooms and accommodate 1200 pupils. There was little organized opposition to the passage of the proposal, and considerable effort in favor of it, led by the Citizens' School Tax Committee, of which Melville L. Wilkinson was chairman.

The special election cost about $25,000. This includes pay, at $5 each, for 1854 judges and clerks, and rent, at $5 each, for 609 polling places, and printing.

SENATE RATIFIES THE NAVAL LIMITATION TREATY

Mutsu by Japan. The United States, for the same reason, is allowed to finish two ships of the 1916 program, for $554,000 each, and to scrap the North Dakota and the Delaware.

The tonnages of the navies after all the scrapping prescribed by the treaty will be: United States, $25,850, Great Britain, $58,850, Japan, $30,320, France, $21,170, Italy, $22,800.

In replacement tonnage, the United States is limited to $25,000, Great Britain to $25,000, Japan to $15,000, France to $15,000, and Italy to $15,000. Thus there is established a parity of great navies the ratio of 5-5-3 in so far as capital ships are concerned.

Fortification Provision. An important feature of the treaty is Article 19, which limits the future construction of fortifications in the Pacific. The United States may not fortify Guam or continue its defensive works in the Philippines, but there is no such restriction as to Hawaii. This section of the treaty was attacked with special virulence by Senator Reid prior to his departure for Missouri last Friday.

The treaty is to remain in force Dec. 31, 1936—a period of about 15 years. Reid's speech against the treaty is taken as indication that he would have joined France in voting against it if he had been present.

By the Associated Press. Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, author of the congressional resolution requesting the calling of an arms conference, supported the naval limitation treaty in a speech in the Senate today, but declared the treaty must be regarded as the beginning and only the beginning of the work of disarmament.

Opening the second and last day of Senate debate on the treaty, Borah said the conference for what it had done. "What There Is Yet to Do." "I have no doubt," said the Idaho Senator, "that this treaty represents a step that it was possible to secure at this conference. Nevertheless, I should regard the treaty as a disaster rather than a benefit if it came to be regarded as all there is to do even in the next 10 years. In the matter of disarmament, it is fitting that we congratulate ourselves on what has been done, but it is exceedingly important that we utilize the occasion for consideration of what there is yet to do."

"Suppose we were to be content. Suppose we were to sterilize the interest and enthusiasm aroused in favor of disarmament and should rest upon what has been done. The fact that no such naval armaments have ever been known in the world as exist after the treaty is ratified."

"The conference was wholly unable to deal with the submarine and with any other instrument of modern warfare except airplane carriers. So far as the Orient is concerned, Japan has left all the navy she needs to compare those of last year with those that will obtain under the treaty, the difference is almost insignificant. We are simply beginning the great struggle of disarmament."

Would Continue Work. Borah said he had opposed including army limitation in the conference call, believing European naval activity would not be reduced by the treaty's provisions in a detailed statement, and later Senator Underwood of Alabama, Democratic floor leader, declared the treaty would be accepted as an epochal achievement by the American people, regardless of party.

Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, senior Democrat on the Foreign Relations Committee, pointed out that

Nine Buildings to Cost $7,040,000 to Be Begun Soon

In a few weeks, he stated, and it is planned to hold the cost "substantially below" the latest estimate, $870,000.

Being somewhat unfamiliar with the architect's methods, Kauffman said, the St. Louis contractors bid too high, and it was arranged to give them another opportunity, after a consultation over the specifications. The work of erection will take about 10 months. Kauffman added that a delay in starting the work had saved money for the low theaters, because building labor costs have dropped and the workmen's efficiency has increased.

Other Buildings Planned. Plans for additional buildings at Knoch Hospital, the city's tuberculosis sanatorium, are nearing completion, President Kinsey of the Board of Public Service said, and bids will be called for some time next month, which means that the work should start within a comparatively few weeks thereafter. There has been appropriated for this work $350,000, of which at least $250,000 will be expended solely for building.

Plans are partly ready, Kinsey said, for buildings to cost $350,000 on the 800-acre farm north of Baden that has been acquired for the Municipal Farm for the Feeble-minded. Bids will be called for on this work in about six weeks. Kinsey said that the city felt justified in starting these buildings in view of the decreases labor has accepted, or that are in prospect. He said that as no contracts of importance have been let so far this year he could not tell the situation of the building material market.

Rabbi Samuel Thurman of the United Hebrew Temple said that he soon expects plans for a new temple, on the south side of Delmar boulevard at Belt avenue, are completed, within the next two months, construction work will be started.

A new Catholic high school for boys, at King's highway and Cote Brillante avenue, to cost $250,000, will be started by May, Archbishop Glennon said.

The Crown Millinery Co., which plans the erection of a $200,000 school for boys, at King's highway and Cote Brillante avenue, to cost $250,000, will be started by May, Archbishop Glennon said.

Various reasons are given for delay in the erection of 11 other buildings, with a total projected value of $9,210,000. Some of these are to be built before the year is over, while others are to be started in the next few months. The delay in some cases is attributed to a feeling that labor costs have not sufficiently declined.

It is not known when work will start on the new Masonic Temple, on Lindell boulevard, just west of the St. Louis Club, and east of Spring avenue. This is planned to cost $3,000,000.

Site Cleared for New Bank. Work of clearing the site for the new $2,000,000 Federal Reserve Bank Building, Locust street, from Broadway to Fourth street, is ended and architects are working on plans for the building. Legislation before Congress to require congressional authorization for building operations by Federal Reserve banks is not expected to delay the work here. Dwyer C. Biggs, governing architect, said the work is approximately 15,270,000, would be gotten under way by April 1, "provided satisfactory reduction is made in the cost of all building construction."

Cuniff's report was made by the joint arbitration committee representing the Building Trades Council and the Master Builders' Association.

Most of the major projects included in the Post-Dispatch November survey comprised the buildings in Cuniff's statement, and it is chiefly buildings from this group that are included in today's review.

The survey of November 1931 revealed that large building projects with a total estimated cost of approximately $15,270,000, would be gotten under way by April 1, "provided satisfactory reduction is made in the cost of all building construction."

ADVERTISING SIMPLE APPLICATION THAT DISSOLVES BLACKHEADS

No more sweating and pinching to get rid of those unsightly blackheads. There is now a simple, safe and sure way to get them out, and that is to dissolve them. To do this, just get about two ounces of calamine powder from your drugstore—preferably a little on a wet sponge—rub briskly over the blackheads for a few seconds—wash the parts and every blackhead will be gone. Following and squeezing out blackheads make large pores and you cannot get all of the blackheads out this way—while this simple application of calamine powder and water dissolves every particle of them and leaves the skin and pores in their natural condition. Any drugstore will sell you the calamine powder, and about two ounces will be all you will ever need.

ADVERTISING If Ruptured Try This Free

Anyone ruptured, man, woman or child, should call at our office at once for free trial of the Elmer Method, including the wonderful Lymphatic Stimulating Application. Just put it on the rupture and the muscles begin to tighten; they begin to bind together so the opening closes naturally and the need of support or truss is done away with. Don't neglect to call or send for this free trial. Even if your rupture doesn't bother, what is the use of wearing braces all your life? Why suffer this nuisance? Why run the risk of gas, groins and such dangers from a small and innocent little rupture, the kind that has thrown thousands on the operating table? A host of men and women are daily running this risk just because their ruptures do not hurt and prevent them from getting around. Follow the example of the thousands who have accepted our great free trial offer and have reported solid and lasting cures. It is certainly a wonderful thing that were as big as a man's two fists, try and call it a cure of rupture. Office hours, 9 to 11 a. m., 2 to 6 p. m., and Monday and Tuesday evenings, 7 to 9 p. m. Write and a free demonstration about rupture will be mailed you without charge. William H. Rice, Inc., 1000 North Broadway, Room 111, St. Louis, Mo.

ATTEMPT TO KILL MILUKOFF IN BERLIN

Two Czarist Officers Arrested
After Shooting at Lecture;
One Man Slain.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, March 23.—Two Czarist officers have been arrested charged with killing Vladimir Nabokoff and attempting to assassinate Prof. Paul N. Milukoff. The men are Peter Schabelski-Brock and Jaribow Tabowitsk. M. Nabokoff was killed during an attack on M. Milukoff, while the latter was addressing a Russian meeting here last night.

Both of the men held have been identified by persons who were on the stage when the shots were fired. The authorities believe other Russian monarchists, who were present, but escaped in the uproar, were also implicated in the plot to assassinate M. Milukoff.

Prof. Milukoff was formerly Minister of Foreign Affairs in the Russian Provisional Government, and M. Nabokoff was Secretary of State in the first Russian Parliamentary Cabinet under Prince Lvoff.

M. Milukoff's presence of mind enabled him to escape, as he made a quick forward and downward movement when the first shots were fired. His assailants mounted the stage to renew the attack at short range, but one of the officers was seized by M. Nabokoff and thrown to the floor. His companion came to the rescue and fired the fatal shots into Nabokoff from behind.

Prof. Milukoff meanwhile had succeeded in reaching an ante-room off stage, while the assailants were seized by spectators, who threatened to lynch them.

One of the men who assisted in their capture is Vladimir Nasmoff-Lewontow, a Russian journalist, employed in Berlin and a brother of the actress Nasmoff.

The police are inclined to believe that the plot to assassinate M. Milukoff was concocted by the former monarchists, who are now holding a congress in Berlin. M. Milukoff arrived from Paris yesterday and announcement of his lecture had attracted a large audience.

PATROLMAN BEAT OUT FLAMES AT OLD SEVEN-MILE HOUSE

Fire Believed to Have Been of Incendiary Origin; Fatal Shooting Is Recalled.

Fire, believed by police to have been of incendiary origin, was discovered at the rear of the old Seven-Mile House, 5826 North Broadway, at 1 a. m. today, by Patrolmen Cole and Kuntz, as they were driving about the Mounted District in an automobile.

The flames were beaten out by the patrolmen, who found that sawdust, over which gasoline had been poured, had been sprinkled on the rear porch of the place. Charles Haynes, 69 year old, the caretaker, was the only person in the place at the time.

The police recalled that Jacob Thomann, proprietor of the place, had trouble with some men who passed part of their time in the neighborhood, as an outgrowth of which John Naughton, 29 years old, of 1474 A. Ober avenue, was fatally shot by Thomann about two years ago. Thomann was exonerated by a coroner's jury. Previously to the shooting, Thomann had sold the property and had been operating a truck farm at McLean Station, northwest of the city. He reopened the Seven-Mile House last Friday.

Girl Is Hit by Street Car.

Miss Mary B. Higgins, 17 years old, of 1577 Wells avenue, was struck by an eastbound Wellington car while crossing from the north to the south side of Easton avenue at Academy avenue at 6 p. m. yesterday. She suffered scalp wounds, cuts and bruises and from shock. She told the police she had alighted from a westbound car and had allowed three eastbound cars to pass before she started across the street.

Held as Platinum Thief Suspect.

$200,000 SUIT FILED AGAINST MOVIE ACTOR

Herbert Rawlinson Charged With Statutory Offense Against Girl, 15 Years Old.

By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 23.—
Herbert Rawlinson, motion picture actor, was made defendant in a suit for damages of $200,000, filed in the Superior Court here yesterday by Mrs. Ethel E. Clark of New York, who charged Rawlinson had committed a statutory offense against her daughter, Dorothy, Clark, two years ago.

Mrs. Clark and her daughter are in New York, but their address was withheld by their attorney, J. K.
Stickney of San Diego, Cal., who said he had filed the action at the request of Mrs. Clark.

The alleged offense, according to papers in the suit, was committed in New York, in 1920, when the girl was 15 years old.

At that time, it was said, the girl had had a brief experience in motion picture work. More recently, Attorney Stickney stated, she had been on the legitimate stage in New York.

The complaint filed Oct. 15, 1920, as the exact date of the alleged assault and related other purported actions on the part of Rawlinson.
Rawlinson could not be located at his apartments here last night.

SHOTS AND SPEEDING AUTO PUT NEIGHBORHOOD IN COMMOTION

Policeman Tries to Stop Machine,
but Fails; Investigation Being Made.

Six shots fired in rapid succession, followed by the speeding away of an automobile from Clarence and Ashland avenues last night threw the neighborhood into a commotion and caused a police investigation that continued for several hours, in an effort to learn if anyone had been shot.

Patrolman Knox reported he was walking his beat along Clarence avenue when he heard the shots and saw an automobile, in which several young men were riding, speeding toward him. As the machine drew near he stepped into the street, revolver in hand, and motioned for the driver to stop. He heard one of the men shout "Did you get him?"
and the answer "Yes," after which the men saw him.

"Stop on it and get out of here," Patrolman Knox heard one shout.
The machine swerved past him and the speed was increased. He emptied his revolver after it. A further investigation is being made today to ascertain what may have caused the shooting and who may have been implicated. The license number of the machine was not obtained.

BOMB CAUSES PANIC AT PROHIBITION LECTURE IN CHURCH

Crowd Had Assembled to Hear William E. Johnson—Man's Hand Burned by Explosion.

By the Associated Press.
GREEN BAY, Wis., March 23.—
There was a panic in the Union Congregational Church here last night when a bomb was thrown into the midst of an audience of 500 persons gathered to hear William E. Johnson, noted prohibition reformer, deliver his address on the "New India."

One woman fainted and a general break was made for the nearest exits with those on the platform doing their utmost to quell what promised to be a dangerous stampede.

R. C. Walker ran down the aisle and grasped the smoking tubular bomb and started back when it exploded in his hand. It was an ama-teurish model, a small tin can, filled with black powder. Walker was slightly burned.

Johnson was at the time giving his address at another church and Lewis L. Holton, Spokane, prohibition worker, had the floor.

Although the church filled with smoke and fumes, not more than 10

4 ROBBERS FORCE DRUGGIST TO OPEN SAFE, THEN TAKE WHISKY

H. W. Reuter Says Quicker Searched for Liquor After Taking $75 from Register.

Four armed men who entered the drug store of Herman W. Reuter, 5825 Gravois avenue, at 10 o'clock last night, compelled Reuter to open the safe, from which they took two cases of whisky. They put the bottles in an automobile waiting outside with a fifth man at the wheel, and drove away.

When they first entered the place
they compelled Reuter, who is a member of the State Board of Pharmacy, to face the wall while they searched the store. From the cash register they took $75 and made a search for the liquor. Not finding it they asked Reuter where it was kept, and when he pointed to the safe they compelled him to work the combination and open the inner doors. As they departed they warned Reuter not to notify the police.

"MEN SHOULD WEAR CORSETS"

By the Associated Press.
PHILADELPHIA, March 23.—Men
as well as women should wear corsets, in the opinion of Amelia Bingham, actress, who addressed the New Century Club yesterday. "Trimness," she said, "is desirable not only in women, but in men as well. All women should avoid slouchiness by wearing corsets. Why shouldn't the men wear flexible ones for the same reason?"

She opposed censorship for plays and films, declaring that "if they were not thus hampered," they would develop into one of the greatest educational forces in America.

The Tonic To Take In The Spring

Many so-called tonics are merely stimulants. They fail to reach or remedy the real cause which makes you run down or out of sorts.

The safe tonic
is a food medicine and the greatest body builder is Father
John's Medicine,
whose pure food elements are easily taken up by a weakened and run down system. This old prescription contains the greatest of food medicines which doctors have prescribed for years for their patients. It is guaranteed free from drugs, alcohol or any other kind of stimulant. It builds up the body, enriches the blood. It is a builder and not a bracer.

For Raw Sore Throat

At the first sign of a raw, sore throat rub on a little Musterole with your finger.

It goes right to the spot with a gentle tingle, loosens congestion, draws out soreness and pain.
Musterole is a clean, white ointment made with oil of mustard. It has all the strength of the old-fashioned mustard plaster without the blister.

Nothing like Musterole for croupy children. Keep it handy for instant use. 35 and 65 cents in jars and tubes; hospital size, $3.
Better Than a Mustard Plaster

THE EASIEST WAY TO END DANDRUFF

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.
You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.
You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

NEW WITNESS APPEARS AT ARBUCKLE TRIAL

Woman Secretary of Sanitarium Repeats Alleged Deathbed Statement by Miss Rappe.

By the Associated Press. SAN FRANCISCO, March 29.—Continuation of the cross-examination of Adolf Juel, finger-print expert of the San Francisco Police Department, and a witness for the defense, opened the session today in the third trial of Roscoe Arbuckle, on a manslaughter charge in connection with the death of Miss Virginia Rappe.

The State's testimony closed yesterday, with the testimony of Mrs. Virginia Briggs, private secretary at the sanitarium where Miss Rappe died. Mrs. Briggs, a surprise witness, testified that Miss Rappe made a deathbed statement to her that Arbuckle seized her by the arms, threw her on the bed in his room and placed his right upon her.

This was the first time Mrs. Briggs had appeared as a witness. The defense made a motion that her statements be stricken from the record as hearsay, but this the Court denied.

Tells of Seeing Miss Rappe.

Mrs. Briggs explained that she had gone into Miss Rappe's room on the day of her death.

"She asked me about the amount of the hospital bill that would be due," said the witness. "She said she didn't see why she should pay the bill, as Arbuckle was responsible for her being there. I told her that if Arbuckle or anyone else should pay the account after she left, the money paid by her would be returned. She replied that she was not going to leave, that she was going to die."

"Then I asked her why she thought she was going to die, and it was then that she told me the details of the party."

Cross-examined by Attorney Gavin McNab, defense chief counsel, as to whether it was not true that she had telephoned him asking that Miss Rappe's bill be paid, and threatening that if it was not, she would tell her story to the District Attorney, Mrs. Briggs made an absolute denial. She also denied that McNab had told her to give any evidence she might have to the District Attorney, although admitting that he had told her to see that official, she presumed, about the bill.

"I had some one on the line while I was talking to you," said the witness.

"So did I," volunteered McNab.

A portion of the alleged attack by Arbuckle on Miss Rappe was enacted by the defense in an effort to show that had force been used, the finger-prints on the hotel room door would have been blurred and smudged beyond identification.

Door of Room Unlocked.

Nat Schmulowitz, defense attorney, impeached Miss Rappe, and E. O. Heinrich, who had testified as a finger-print expert, impeached Arbuckle. The door of the hotel room was used in the staging of the supposed scene. Heinrich had testified that the door bore the prints of Miss Rappe's hands with Arbuckle's superimposed.

Juel testified that the finger prints on the door of the hotel room in which the struggle was alleged to have taken place were not those of Miss Rappe and Arbuckle, thus directly contradicting the testimony of Heinrich, who developed the photographs of the marks.

LETTER FROM URAL, RUSSIA, ASKS FOR CHICAGO TRADE

Bids Are Solicited for Various Articles in First Offer Made to Export Goods.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, March 29.—A handwritten letter, scratched with pen and ink on a cheap quality of ruled news print paper and plastered with 8000 rubles' worth of postage stamps, arrived at the headquarters of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association from Ural, Russia, yesterday with the first offer to export goods known to have been received here from that section of Russia.

The letter enumerates a list of manufactured and raw materials which the National Commissariat of Foreign Trade has for sale. The commodities which the letter could be sold in and around Chicago and under what terms. Metals listed included iron, copper, gold and platinum. Ten ores included manganese, malachite, talc, Jasper and precious stones and a list of chemical goods contained caustic soda, caustic magnesia and silver nitrate. Lumber, woodware, leather, horsehair, feathers and other animal products are enumerated and the list of fur names 24 varieties from reindeer to skunk.

Some of the more unusual offerings mentioned were ural stone handwork, mineral collections, furs, carpets, kashmir cast from art goods, polished precious stones and asbestos fabrications.

The letter was mailed from Ekaterinburg, where the former czar and his family are said to have been executed.

ROADS ALLOWED TO CUT RATES

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, March 29.—Mississippi Valley railroads were found to be justified today, by the Interstate Commerce Commission, in decreasing rates from Chicago territory on freight destined to the Pacific coast via Gulf ports and the Panama Canal.

The order of suspension, which the commission issued against the new schedule and which prevented the lower charges from becoming effective Feb. 15, was withdrawn, and the railroads were allowed to continue the lower rates on and after April 1.

REED'S FIGURES ON NAVY RATIO WRONG, LODGE DECLARES

Republican Leader Replies to Missourian's Charge Limitation Treaty Was Misrepresented.

CITES TONNAGE
TO BE SCRAPPED

Missourian Said U. S. Would Be Left Weak Because of Difference in Tonnage Standards.

Post-Dispatch Bureau,
29 Wyatt Building.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—In opening the discussion of the five-power naval limitation treaty in the Senate yesterday, Senator Lodge replied categorically to the attack recently made on the treaty by Senator Reed of Missouri, who declared the American people had been deceived as the relative strength of the three great navies after the proposed scrapping of battleships. Reed presented a mass of figures compiled for him by two anonymous naval experts—figures which, he said, proved his contention that the American navy would be left in a relatively much weaker position than appeared on the face of the five-five-three ratio.

"The status was misrepresented," said Lodge. "We have told the American people exactly what the facts were."
Quoting figures supplied by the experts of the Navy Department who advised the American delegates throughout the conference, Lodge said that Reed's anonymous experts had "indulged in inaccuracies, omissions and wrong conclusions, many of which seem so evident as to create surprise."

Lodge compares figures.
Reed stated that the United States was to scrap 762,940 tons, Great Britain 92,000 tons and Japan 289,182
tons.

As a matter of fact, said Lodge, the authentic figures supplied by the navy showed that the tonnage marked for scrapping was as follows:
United States, 735,540; Great Britain, 507,225 and Japan, 350,523.

"These figures," said Lodge, "are entirely at variance with those submitted by the Senator from Missouri.
Who could have told him that Great Britain scrapped only 92,000 tons I cannot imagine. She had scrapped a great many pre-Jutland ships, old ships, before she came here, and yet she scrapped much more than 92,000
tons."

"Again, the Senator from Missouri said that $550,000,000 had been spent already on the construction of new ships that are to be scrapped.
That again is wrong. The original American proposal contemplated the scrapping of all the capital ships in the 1916 program which were not in commission, on which approximately $32,000,000 had been spent or obligated. There is no mistake about that. It is all documentary."

Provisions of Treaty.
"In the final treaty, however, the battleships West Virginia and Colorado were reserved, and two of the battle cruisers kept for conversion to aircraft carriers. Subtracting the moneys involved in this matter from the original total, we have approximately $242,000,000 or less than half the amount stated by the Senator from Missouri in his speech."

"The Senator from Missouri in his table of ships to be retained credits Great Britain with two super-Hoods, carrying 16-inch guns and throwing a weight of metal of 25,000 tons each. I wish to invite the attention of the Senator to the fact that the two new Hoods are not super-Hoods.
The super-Hood was a ship planned by Great Britain which would have had a displacement of approximately 50,000 tons. That ship might carry 12 16-inch guns, but the greatest number of guns, according to the statements of the British experts, that the two new Hoods can carry is nine each."

Reed's Charges as to Tonnage.
Reed charged that the treaty negotiators in fixing the tonnage for each nation, did not take into account the different systems of measuring tonnage. Because of this neglect, he said, it was necessary to add 12 1/2 per cent to the British tonnage allowed by the treaty in order to arrive at a proper basis of comparison with the American navy.

Reed said the concealment of this "fact" from the American people was a "fact of unspeakable perfidy."
"That is strong language," said Lodge. "Anyone using it should be absolutely sure of the ground on which he is standing. Unfortunately, the Senator from Missouri has evidently placed too much reliance on his two experts."

Lodge said that in making the estimates of naval tonnage, the figures were reduced to a common standard.

Council of League Ends Meeting.
PARIS, March 29.—The Council of the League of Nations wound up its secret deliberations yesterday by announcing in a public sitting its decision to strengthen the temporary mixed armaments commission, and to lend expert, but not political, aid to the Genoa conference. A resolution was adopted in reply to the Italian Government, authorizing the secretary-general of the League to "provide the Genoa conference with the technical assistance that may be required, to the extent permitted by the exigencies of the work for which the secretary-general is responsible."

With Absolute Power of Life and Death, This Secret Organization, She Declares, Is Potent Factor in the Strangling of the Russian Revolution.

Miss Goldman is writing this series from Russia fresh from a two year stay in that mysterious land which she has just succeeded in quitting. After being barred from several other countries through the influence of the Bolsheviks, she has been permitted to enter Sweden. It will be recalled that the writer, who is known throughout the world as an anarchist, was deported to Russia together with Alexander Berkman by order of the Department of Labor in December, 1919.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, March 28.—Mobilization of labor, in reality conscript labor, was heralded to the world as the greatest asset of communism. "All must labor now in Soviet Russia. No more parasites!" Though Lenin has never openly admitted that this method, like many other similar ones decreed to rebuild Russia, is a mistake, I am yet inclined to think that he realizes that conscript labor has done absolutely nothing to increase the output of the workers.

What it did accomplish was to establish, while it existed, chattel slavery and to replace the bourgeois parasite by the machinery of bolshevik parasitism. Its function was to drive the workers to toil overseas them on the job and have them arrested and occasionally even shot for deserting the job. As for the great majority of the workers, they went to the shops not to work but to rest, and secretly make a few articles that their wives and children could take to the country and exchange for flour and potatoes. That, incidentally, kept them from starvation from the onset.

As for the opportunities of bringing something from the country, a whole book could be written on that alone. With the prohibition of trading came the "zagryaditely stryad," the detachment of soldiers and Chekists at every station to confiscate everything brought by private persons to the city. The wretched people, after untold difficulties of obtaining a pass for travel, after days and weeks of exposure at the stations, after the ghastly trip in filthy, overcrowded cars, or on the roofs and platforms, would bring a pod of flour or potatoes, only to have it snatched from them by the stryad.

In most cases the confiscated stuff was divided by the defenders of the communist state among themselves. The victims were fortunate indeed if they escaped further trouble. Often they would be robbed of their precious sack and thrown into jail for "speculation." The number of real speculators apprehended was insignificant in comparison with the mass of unfortunate humanity that filled the prisons of Russia for trying to keep from starving to death.

Compulsory Labor Enforced on All Without Discrimination

One thing must be said for the Bolsheviks—they do nothing by half. As soon as compulsory labor became a law it was carried into effect with a vengeance. Men and women, young and old, thin and fat, in torn shoes, or with only rags on their feet, were indiscriminately driven into the cold and sleet to work. They were sent in groups to the forests to saw wood.

Pleurisy, pneumonia and tuberculosis resulted. It was only then that the wisecracks in the Kremlin created a new department for the distribution of labor. This bureau decided upon the physical fitness of the workers, classified and distributed them according to their kind.

Under such enervating and degrading conditions one need not be surprised that the people shirked the work, because they hated it and the manner they were driven to it. The answer to look upon the communist as the new leech that was sucking the life-blood of the workers of Petrograd, the most revolutionary, they who had borne the brunt of the struggle, who had so heroically defended the city against Yudenitch, who starved and froze beyond belief, what wonder if even they came to loathe the false revolutionists and everything connected with them?

Not theirs is the fault—it is the cruel Bolshevik machine which undermined their ideals and faith. That machine has engendered a counter-revolutionary feeling which it will take long to overcome.

I shall never forget a certain scene at a meeting of the Petrograd soviet. On that night the fate of Cronstadt was to be decided. After long speeches by the leading communists, several workers and sailors asked for the floor. A worker from the arsenal speaks. He faces the chair instead of the audience. His voice is weak with suppressed emotion, his eyes burn, his whole frame shakes. He addresses the chairman of the Petrograd soviet, Zinoviev.

"Three years and a half ago," he says, "you were denounced as a German spy, a traitor to the revolution, branded and persecuted. We, the workers and sailors of Petrograd, loved you, fought for you, bled for you and carried you to the seat you now occupy. We did that because we believed that you were expressive of the people. Since then you and your Government have gone away from us. Now you call us inciting flames, dare to deny us as counter-revolutionists. You imprison and shoot us because we ask you to make good the promises you had given us in the October revolution."

I do not know what became of the man. He may be in prison or dead for his daring. His cry fell on deaf ears. Yet it was the cry of an agonized spirit, the collective Russian soul, that had replied to an appeal such heights during the revolution that is now fettered by the Bolshevik state.

Tyranny of the Cheka. The Cheka, the All-Russian Extraordinary Commission, unquestionably is the blackest measure of the Bolshevik regime. It was organized after the Bolsheviks came to power for the purpose of coping with counter-revolution, sabotage and speculation. Originally the Cheka was controlled by the Commissariat of the Interior, the Soviets and the Central Committee of the Communist party.

Gradually it became the most powerful department in Russia. It was not merely a state within the state, it was a state over the state. The whole of Russia is covered to the remotest village with a net of Chekas, snare or trap for the counter-revolutionary machine has its extraordinary commission, omnipotent over the life and death of the Russian people. It would require the master plan of Darius to bring home to the world the inferno created by this organization, the brutalizing, disintegrating effect it has upon the extraordinary commissions themselves, the dread, distrust, hatred, suffering and death it has wrought upon Russia.

(In reading what Miss Goldman says of the Cheka, it must be borne in mind that Lenin recently announced that it had been greatly shorn of its infernal powers. How far this is true is not known. Perhaps it is another case of Lenin, as Miss Goldman puts it, crying "mea culpa" and "repentance.")

Admitted Reign of Terror. The head of the All-Russian Extraordinary Commission is Dzerzhinsky. He, together with his fellow members of its presidium, are "tried" Communists. In a public statement Dzerzhinsky said: "We are the representatives of organized terror. We terrorize the enemies of the soviet government. . . . We have the power to undertake raids, confiscate goods and capital, perform arrests, question, try and condemn those we consider guilty, and to inflict the death penalty."

In other words, the Cheka is spy, policeman, judge, jailer and executioner, all in one. It is the supreme power from which there is no redress, and only rarely an escape. It operates nearly always at night. The sudden flood of light in a district, the noise of madly speeding Cheka automobiles, are signals for the alarm and dread of the community. The Cheka is at work again!

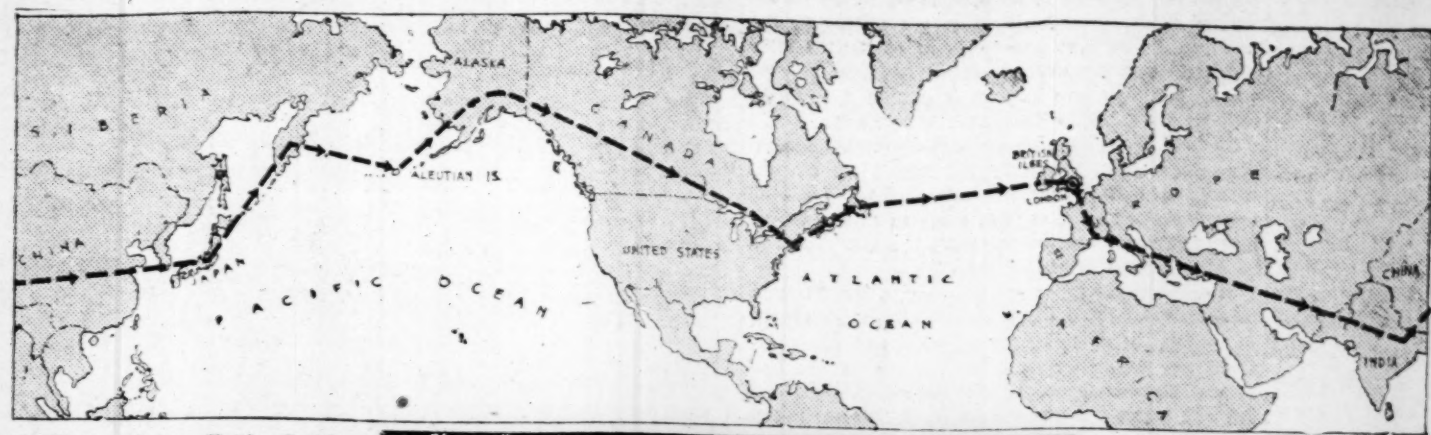

"Who are the unfortunates caught in the net this night? Whose turn will be next?"

The Cheka was organized to cope with counter-revolution, but for every real conspiracy it has unearthed it has created nine, either of an imaginary nature or of its own making. It must be borne in mind that the members of the Cheka are its provocateurs and informers. Like the scourge of typhus they infest the very air of Russia. They shrink from no method, be it ever so base and cruel, involving the torture and to penalize them as dangerous counter-revolutionists and speculators. In reality, however, the Cheka itself is a hotbed of counter-revolutionary plot and fabulous speculation.

Recruits of Old Terror. Every communist, by the discipline of his party, must at any time be ready to serve in the Cheka. But the majority of the Chekists are from the Cheka's "Otkhrana," from the black hundreds, and from the former high officials of the army. They are adepts in the application of barbarous methods.

The Western world has been fed on glowing accounts of the people's tribunals in Russia—the courts presided over by workers and peasants. There are no such courts within the domain of the Cheka. Its proceedings are secret. The so-called hearings, when they take place at all, are a travesty on justice.

The "hop off" is confronted by ready-made evidence, he has no witnesses and is permitted no defense. When he is led away from the Chamber of Horrors he does not even know whether he is acquitted or condemned. He is kept in maddening suspense until some night he is called out—never to return. The following morning a Chekist calls for his belongings, and the rest of the prisoners know that starvation-brought murder has been added to the countless numbers.

And the relatives and friends of the unfortunates? They go on standing in line on the Lyubianka, the street where the ghastly Cheka is quartered, for days and weeks anxiously waiting for word from their own. At last they are told that the one they are looking for had been shot the previous night. In most cases the victim has been dead for a long time. Thus insult is added to the tragedy and grief of the mourner.

Secrets That Leak Out.

Like the Okhrana of old, the Bolshevik Okhrana keeps its evil doings from the public. But the truth will out sometimes. There is already considerable printed data on the horrors within the walls of the Cheka—the brutal tortures, the graft, the widespread speculation. One need not go for information to the opponents of the Bolshevik regime. The Cheka itself occasionally furnishes such material. The weekly organ of the Cheka No. 3 contains an article on the necessity of torture. It is entitled "Enough Sentimentality," and says, among other things:

"In dealing with enemies of soviet Russia it is necessary to use methods of torture to press confessions out of them, and then to dispatch them to the other world."

The reader need not think that the Cheka has progressed since 1918. Last summer, when the alleged plot of Prof. Taganitsseff was discovered in Petrograd, brutal beatings, torture by thirst, and such other oriental revolutionary methods were employed. I have this information not from counter-revolutionists, but from very sincere Communists, who was one of the arrested, and who witnessed the results of Chekist methods.

A Communist among arrested counter-revolutionists? How did he get there? Very simply. When the Cheka throws out its net, it catches the innocent as well as the guilty; in fact, mostly the innocent. For how can 65 persons be involved in a conspiracy without the whole city knowing it? Yet 65 persons were shot last summer in Petrograd in connection with the Taganitsseff "plot." And that is a small percentage of the innocent men, women and even youths done to death in the cellars of the Cheka.

Demands for Suppression. Time and again demands were made on the Government to check the power of this terrible organization. Such an attempt was made in the fall of 1920. Immediately crime became rampant in Moscow, and the Government resorted to the Cheka had to prove that it is indispensable to the Bolshevik state. Thereupon a testimonial of thanks was voted to Dzerzhinsky and published in the Pravda.

Zinoviev, at one of the sessions of the Petrograd soviet, declared Dzerzhinsky "a saint devoted to the revolution." The history of the dark ages is full of such saints. How terrible is the Bolshevik regime must indicate the black past.

In this connection it is interesting to recall the stand taken by the Bolsheviks in 1917, when the Provisional Government attempted to reinstate capital punishment for army deserters. At that time the Bolsheviks protested vehemently against such brutality. They pointed out how barbarous the death penalty is, and how dangerous to mankind. After the October revolution, at the Second All-Russian Congress of the soviets, the Bolsheviks—together with the other revolutionary elements—voted to abolish capital punishment. Now rascals are the cherished method of the Cheka—methods proscribed over by a Communist saint and sanctioned by the Communist state.

What becomes of Marxism, which teaches that the social revolution is the birth of a new social life? Is there any indication of it in any of the Bolshevik principles and methods as applied in Russia? The Bolshevik state has proved itself a crushing conspiracy against the Russian revolution.

New Expedition to Begin March to Summit of Mt. Everest Next Week

Equipment for Party, Stronger Than That of Last Year, Is Being Assembled at Phari Dzong and Start Will Be Made April 5 or 6

This is the first dispatch from the head of the Mount Everest expedition, to all of whose members the Post-Dispatch foreign service has secured exclusive publication rights in St. Louis. This expedition expects to complete this spring or summer the work of last year's party under Col. Howard Bury, which climbed to a point about 29,000 feet above sea level and discovered that the route to the summit, the party in its attempt to conquer the 29,000-foot peak, the loftiest in the world.

By BRIG.-GEN. THE HON. C. G. BRUCE, C. B.

Leader of the Mount Everest Expedition. (Copyrighted and supplied by "DARJEELING, India, March 22 (via Delhi, March 28).—The Mount Everest expedition is here, expecting to leave for Tibet next week, excepting Capt. Finch and Mr. Crawford, who are remaining to superintend the transport of the oxygen outfit, upon which much of our success depends.

The party is larger considerably than the one making the successful reconnaissance last year, consisting now of 11 members besides myself, namely, Dr. T. G. Longstaff, official medical officer; Lieutenant-Colonel E. L. Strutt, G. L. Mallory, Maj. E. F. Norton, Dr. A. M. Wakefield, T. Howard Somervell, Capt. George Finch, Capt. J. B. Noel, C. G. Crawford, Capt. Geoffrey Bruce and Capt. C. J. Morris.

The committee responsible to the Royal Geographical Society and the Alpine Club for the selection of the outfit is to be congratulated.

A Strong Party. A stronger party of purely British mountaineers never before participated in an expedition. Nevertheless, the fact remains that the success of a party, however strong, in the Himalayas, depends upon the power of establishing well provisioned high camps and therefore depends on transport.

It is pleasant to think how the Himalians have responded to the call for porters. Notwithstanding the severe work carried out and the considerable hardships undergone in the last expedition, there was the greatest competition among the Himalians to be included in the expedition, so great difficulty was experienced in satisfying the many claims put forth by the eager candidates.

Hospitality of Natives. Moreover, the greatest interest was taken by the Darjeeling folk themselves. At Ladens, a well-known police officer of Tibetan

DICTATORSHIP DISCUSSED AT IRISH ARMY CONVENTION

Overthrow of All Governments Opposed to a Republic, Provided for in Resolution Sunday.

By the Associated Press.

DUBLIN, March 28.—The convention on Sunday of revolting members of the Irish republican army debated the question of declaring a military dictatorship, but deferred action thereon, says the correspondent here of the London Star, in a dispatch to his paper. He gives as his authority a statement issued from the Beggar's Bush Barrack this morning, which says the proposal before the convention was to overthrow all governments in Ireland opposed to a republic.

According to the correspondent, the report of the convention is vouched for by the regular general headquarters of the Irish republican army in a statement which says the following resolution was offered by Thomas Barry and Frank Barrett: "Resolved, That matters of immediate concern for the executive will include:

"First, maintaining Ireland as an independent republic;

"Second, appointment of a chief of staff who will appoint a general headquarters staff. Appointments can be vetoed by the executive.

"Third, declaration of dictatorship. For this purpose the executive shall be empowered to secure the services of others, who need not be members of the executive, with a view to ordering the dissolution of all pretended governments in Ireland by the prohibition of parliamentary elections until such time as an election without the threat of war by Great Britain can be held on adult suffrage."

The statement proceeds: "The dictatorship would overthrow the four governments in Ireland opposed to the republic, namely, the Dail Eireann, provisional, British and Northern governments."

Opposition to Plan. The statement says the Cork delegate opposed a dictatorship, declaring the time to take such a step had been when the treaty was signed, and not now, when the army was unable to carry it out. The delegate from Donegal favored it. It finally was decided that the resolution should be submitted to the executive as a recommendation and that the executive should give its opinion at the next convention, to be held April 5.

The convention empowered the executive to suppress the election if it saw fit, the statement says. The delegates argued that a question of finance need not trouble the movement, as money could be had for the taking. The Nationalist press could be dealt with by commandeering its machinery or using the sledge.

The Dublin delegate proposed withdrawing the republicans from the Irish republican army, as every man leaving the ranks would bring his rifle to the cause. In the ensuing discussion one delegate remarked, "Better wait, and you will have more than a man and a rifle."

The chief of staff and military council are to be selected from the executive, which is meeting today to frame a constitution. Among those attending the convention were Cathal Brugha (Charles Burgess) former Sinn Fein Minister of Defense, and Harry J. Boland, secretary to Eamon de Valera.

Dail Republicans Have Meeting. Republican members of the Dail Eireann at a meeting here yesterday adopted a resolution proposing immediate suspension of the political campaign in Southern Ireland in order that the factions may unite to "compel cessation of the murder of Catholics in Belfast." The resolution declared that the division in the Dail and the country was caused solely by the proposal to accept the

DAUGHERTY CRITICISES CIVIL SERVICE AS A HINDRANCE IN DOING GOVERNMENT'S WORK

Attorney-General Says That Without System Two-Thirds as Many Employees Probably Would Do Twice as Much.

Post-Dispatch Bureau.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Attorney-General Harry M. Daugherty's opinion of the civil service system is decidedly uncompromising.

In recent testimony before a subcommittee of the House Appropriations Committee, Daugherty said that the work of the Government could be done better and more cheaply if it were not for "the very expensive experiment" of the civil service.

Daugherty was asking the committee to provide for better salaries for Government attorneys, not under the civil service, whose work brings them into competition with able and highly paid lawyers representing private interests. The text of his testimony has just been made available in the printed report of the committee's proceedings.

"It is probably a gratuitous suggestion," he said, "but I believe the civil service is an interference to some extent in the discharge of public business. I suppose I have been voting in party platforms and local elections for the civil service proposition for a great many years. 'About one-half of the employees of the Department of Justice are under civil service. While I am Attorney-General and while the civil service law is in the Federal statutes, I will enforce it and observe it, as I expect to enforce and observe all laws. I believe if it were not for the civil service we could get along with less than two-thirds of the number of employees under civil service and probably get twice as much work out of them.'"

Representative Tinkham of Massachusetts asked how that could be done.

"Anxious to Quit Before the Dot."

"I suppose," Daugherty said, "the Department of Justice has as good employees, and as faithful, who are under civil service, as those who are under the civil service in any other department. I am not, however, as anxious, generally, to be in place to commence work on the dot as they are to quit work before the dot."

I do not speak for the administration, but I am giving you my own benefit of my observation and judgment, about which I have no doubt, and I am thoroughly convinced that the civil service is a hindrance to the Government. I would rather take the recommendation of a political committee, either Democratic or Republican, a self-selecting committee, for the appointment of a man or a woman, than to be compelled to go through the requirements of the civil service to secure an employee. They are hardly as ambitious, hardly as energetic, under the civil service as those not under civil service."

"I discovered both before I came here as Attorney-General and since that civil service employees spend too much time in trying to work out plans to make themselves secure in their positions. While this situation cannot be remedied at the present time, still it is worthy of careful study."

Work and Pay of Attorneys.

Illustrating the importance of the work in the department, Daugherty said that one of the many claims against the Government now on Anglo-Irish treaty, and asked that the Dail Eireann proceed no further with their campaign, allowing public attention to become concentrated on the situation in Ulster.

The new executive council of the Irish republican army has issued instructions to all units of the army at present serving the regular army, also to members of the civil guard or republican force, formed by the provisional government to return to their respective units. This, of course, is intended as a challenge to and a trial of strength with the provisional government, and makes a definite break with the Free State defense force.

OPINION IN BALLOTING LAW

Secretary of State Becker Gives Decision for Tuesday Elections.

SPECIAL TO THE POST-DISPATCH. JEFFERSON CITY, March 28.—The blanket ballot law, passed by the regular session of the last Legislature, will govern in the municipal elections to be held next Tuesday in all Missouri cities of the third class, that is, those having from 3000 to 20,000 population. Secretary of State Becker was advised yesterday in an opinion by Robert F. Otto, Assistant Attorney-General.

This law will not apply in such elections in cities of the second class, for which a special form of ballot is provided, but it will apply in cities of the first class, which are those having 100,000 population or over and which are not governed by special charter. These latter two cases are not governed by the Otto opinion, however. Since the law required only as to third-class cities.

band was for $120,000,000, and that, if the Government lost that case, it would lose more in dollars and cents than the entire cost of running the department for several years.

"Now," he continued, "the attorneys that the Government attorneys are expected to meet, in preparation, in negotiation and in court, are the best men, the ablest men, that the bar affords. We are compelled to send, in a case involving millions of dollars, one man, two men, sometimes three men, to whom the Government pays $2500, possibly $7500, a year. They are men of great ability, earning capacity is ten times as much as the Government pays."

"They do well. I want to compliment the men in the Department of Justice now for the splendid work they are doing; but they are not under civil service; they work night and day. I was myself at the department yesterday (Sunday) a good portion of the day and all evening, and there were many men in the department at work. They were not under civil service."

"Not an Expensive Luxury."

Daugherty said that the Department of Justice was not an "expensive luxury" for the Government. "I think I would be willing," he said, "if I had a free hand, to make a contract with the Government of the United States to do all its law business, to take the records incident to the Department of Justice, including the judiciary, the district attorneys and their assistants, United States marshals and their assistants, clerks and their assistants, and pay for all stationery and all expenses of every kind in connection with the department, and pay annually 5 per cent and probably 10 per cent dividends to the Government on what it has invested in Federal buildings over the United States."

Daugherty said the Government could probably save 130 additional attorneys for special work in the department.

"Being thoroughly in accord with what you said about this civil service foolishness," said Representative Ben Johnson of Kentucky, "I was wondering if you could get the civil service dispensed with in selecting these 130 men."

Daugherty explained that the positions which he had in mind did not come under the civil service. He said the department had some lawyers under the civil service and most of the clerical force were under it.

"Injurious and Expensive." "I was leading up to this proposition," said Johnson, "as to whether or not it would be possible for somebody to induce the President of the United States to take the last one of them out from under the civil service and permit the Attorney-General and those nearest to him in authority to select the desirable ones and let the others go."

"Well," replied the Attorney-General, "I do not know what you could do about that. I do not know what the country would say. I am thoroughly convinced that the civil service has been a very expensive experiment for the Government. I do not know what you can do about it."

"I would add 'inexpensive' to 'expensive' experiment," said Johnson, and the discussion turned to other matters.

AUSTRALIA TO RESUME TRADE WITH GERMANY ON AUGUST 1

By the Associated Press.

SYDNEY, New South Wales, March 28.—Trade with Germany will be resumed Aug. 1, it has been definitely decided by the Federal Cabinet. This will end a period of seven years during which the embargo on trade with enemy countries was enforced. Premier Hughes states that with the resumption of trade Germany will be entitled to representation in Australia and that a Consul undoubtedly would be appointed. It was decided to postpone the resumption until August in order that measures might be taken to prevent the dumping of German goods into Australia.

Premier Hughes declined to comment on reports that the German shipping companies will inaugurate a service to Australia shortly. These rumors are causing great interest in Australia, and it is said the companies plan to pay very low wages to officers and men and that the vessels would be run under conditions against which British shipping could not compete. It is understood that if these lines are established the Commonwealth Government will take steps to protect British interests. Extensive powers are given the Commonwealth under the navigation act and these may be invoked, it was said.

SYMPHONY NEEDS $15,000 MORE TO MEET DEFICIT

All but This Amount of $105,000 Loss for Year
Has Been Raised—Public
Asked to Contribute.

SOCIETY ALREADY HAS SUBSCRIBED $22,135

Statement Declares Orchestra
Is Not an Extravagance, but Pays High Returns in Life of City.

The Symphony Orchestra's deficit for the season just closed amounts to $105,000, of which all but $15,000 has been subscribed, according to a statement issued today over the signatures of John Fowler, president, and the members of the board of management. The public is asked to make up the $15,000 still lacking, and it is pointed out that the orchestra is not an extravagance, but pays high returns in the life of the city.

The statement follows:
"The St. Louis Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Leopold Stokowski, is one of the best in the country and a civic asset of high value. It has grown and developed during 42 years of devoted work and generous support. Its progressive development during these many years, with talent in our midst, largely from home talent, has caused its cost to be less than that of similar orchestras in some other cities, where most of the members were importations from without."

Thus the fact that the St. Louis orchestra costs total what Detroit puts up for a loss on its orchestra indicates nothing as to the relative musical standing of the two orchestras. Our loss for this season will be about $105,000, of which it has already raised $22,000. Truly, an orchestra costs a lot of money, but it is not an extravagance, but on the contrary, pays high returns in the life of the city and its reputation abroad. The St. Louis Symphony Orchestra is now on a tour through the States of Missouri, Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee, Iowa, Illinois, giving about 50 concerts, which, plan, the conductor, throughout those communities that St. Louis is a cultured, metropolitan city, prosperous and appreciating the music of life, a good city to visit, to educate children in and advance to trade in."

"The citizens of St. Louis must do about $105,000 to the orchestra this year. The amount has been subscribed with the exception of $15,000. The officers and members of the board of management of the Symphony Society have contributed this year a total of $22,135, after paying for their tickets like other subscribers. We tell this in order that no St. Louisian may think that the orchestra is a luxury to which we put all the cars that are turned loose upon our streets according to the traffic regulations. The orchestra is simple, at least as the orchestra is concerned, to raise the surface pavement, and move the traffic at points of congestion, would give vehicular and pedestrian traffic a better road. There is little case in road space. "The Sunday drive in any one of our cities," this writer is a nerve-racking endeavor. It may be that that efficiency will lead us to mean time it is well to recall all our inventions of modern novel and considered. Social progress is lagging behind with new things."

"Mr. Ganz and the members of the orchestra have given a memorable series of concerts, not only here, but in Kansas City and elsewhere. Will not our citizens do their part in maintaining this great civic asset?"

Members of the board of management of the Symphony Society, who signed the appeal for funds, are: Mrs. D. R. Calhoun, L. Ray Carter, W. Frank Carter, Daniel K. Catlin, J. E. Conroy, Hanford Crawford, J. L. Drey, Mrs. Francis G. Eaton, Mrs. Victor Ehling, Edward A. Faust, Mrs. John Fowler, Mrs. M. A. Goldsmith, Mrs. John H. Gundlach, Edwin Hill, Francis K. Ruf, Mrs. H. S. ## MME. MIURA AND ART OF OPERATIC FILIGREE

Japanese Prima Donna Invests
"Butterfly" With Exotic Graces and Charms.

By RICHARD L. STOKES.
Dainty and elegant as lacquer-work fixed on mother-of-pearl, Mme. Tamaki Miura floated with exquisite grace through the role of Cio-Cio-San in "Madame Butterfly," last night at the Odeon. A caprice of fortune, ordaining that a Japanese girl of high caste should break through the iron conventions of her race and find in Italy an accomplished training in Occidental song, has supplied Puccini with an embodiment of his Japanese heroine such as he never dreamed upon. Judging by his powerful and impassioned music, the composer had in mind a figure on a larger scale than this delicious miniature; but for the eye, if not altogether for the ear, Mme. Miura's impersonation thrusts all others into eclipse. Her bewitching art, together with a better supporting cast and a superior opera, accomplished quite a reversal of form over the San Carlo company's opening-night performance of "Il Trovatore." Despite an absence of the commercial strategies attending that affair, the audience was almost as large; and its enthusiastic relish in the performance could not be doubted. This was Mme. Miura's third appearance here in the part, and the spectators found her more charming than ever, and her performance wrought to an even finer delicacy of filigree.

This tiny prima donna is blessed with a grace of infinite plasticity. To see her swim across the stage with a dish of tea is to behold a series of lovely, fluent and unadorned postures, as if one of the ethereal figures of Old Satsuma pottery had come to life. And it is a figure rich in the colors beloved by the painter, by every flutter of those diminutive, waxen hands; by every line and curve of the winsome body. A slender instrument, perhaps, but it breathes a sweet and candid music.

Mme. Miura would be absolutely devastating to other Madame Butterflies if her voice were equal to her acting. When she first appeared in this country her song was compared to the tinkling of a music box. She has endeavored with much success to increase its volume, but at the cost of a tremolo and occasional lapses from pitch. Still, it is a pretty and very expressive organ.

It chanced, through the deficiencies of the San Carlo organization, that the entire performance was reduced to the scale of a meditation rather than a canvas. A Caruso would swamp Mme. Miura vocally; but the audible lyric tenor of Romeo Bosacchi rhymed pleasantly with her slight voice. A great orchestra would overpower her; but this orchestra of 24 pieces, subduing the opulent tenor of Romeo Bosacchi, however pallid it might seem to Puccini.

A Respectable Performance.
Other roles were listed as follows: Suzuki, Anita Kilmova; Lieut. Pinkerton, Romeo Bosacchi; Kate Pinkerton, Alice Homer; Sharpless, Mario Valle; a mainly and sympathetic baritone; Goro, Joseph Tudisco; Yamadori, Natale Cervi; and the Bonze, Pietro di Biasi. Outside of Mme. Miura's contribution, the performance kept on a level of respectability; it is only fair to add that there were no glaring lapses from taste.

The single hitch was due to a local infant enlisted for the part of Cio-Cio-San's baby; this youngster, after a few minutes of public life, determined then and there to retire from the stage, and walked off with great resolution. Thereafter the role was entrusted to a doll.

"Madame Butterfly" with Mme. Miura, is to be repeated Saturday afternoon at the Odeon. Tonight the company will offer the production of the week, the highest pretensions of the week are made—that of Wagner's most popular opera, "Lohengrin," with Mme. Anna Fitzi as Elsa of Brabant. The work will be given in Italian, with an augmented chorus of St. Louisians trained by Hugo Anschutz. Giuseppe Agostini will have the title role; Joseph Royer will appear as Frederick of Teutonia; Nina Frascanti as Ortrud; Pietro di Biasi as King Henry of Saxony; and Nicolò d'Amico as a herald. Ernest Knoch will conduct.

"Lohengrin" will not be repeated Saturday night at the Odeon, as was at first announced. In its stead will be given "La Boheme," with Mme. Fitzi as Mimì.

ST. LOUIS SYMPHONY WELL RECEIVED IN FORT WORTH

Generous Patronage Is Accorded
Two Concerts by Orchestra.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
FORT WORTH, Tex., March 29.—Generous patronage was accorded at the two concerts given by the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra, which opened its tour here yesterday afternoon and last night. Children at the afternoon concert demanded an encore to "Peer Gynt Suite No. 1." The program in the evening opened with the overture to Rossini's "William Tell." This was followed by the first movement from Shubert's "Unfinished Symphony," Dvorak's "Humoresque," and Saint-Saens' symphonic poem, "Le Ruet d'Omphale."

The night program was better attended than the afternoon concert and was distinguished by the appearance of Carl Ventrone, conductor of the short-lived Fort Worth Symphony Orchestra. Out of compliment to Ventrone, the St. Louis musicians played the prelude to his "Indian Maiden Prayer," which was enthusiastically received. Ventrone has been concert master at the Brussels Opera House, the Opera Comique, Paris; the Metropolitan Opera House, New York; and of the St. Paul Symphony Orchestra, and was conductor of the Dallas and Fort Worth Symphony Orchestras.

WILLIAM GILLETTE SEEKING REDUCTION IN TAX ON CASTLE

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
MIDDLETOWN, Conn., March 29.—William Gillette, actor-playwright, cannot persuade the Board of Relief of the little town of Lyme to grant him a reduction in the tax levied on his castle, which he has placed on his feudal estate and slightly across on top of the bluff overlooking the Connecticut River at the town of Lyme. The board says the property is worth $25,000 for taxable purposes, while Gillette says it should not be listed for more than $22,350. The castle has been in the process of construction for six years and is not finished, although Gillette is able to spend his summers there in company with a Japanese cook and his cat. Gillette has now taken an appeal to the Superior Court from the finding of the board.

JONAP-HARRIS WEDDING LAST NIGHT IN MEMPHIS

Ceremony Performed in Presence of 600 Guests—Couple Will Reside Here.

THE wedding of Miss Marie Jonap, daughter of Mrs. S. Robt. Jonap of Memphis, Tenn., and Simon Abels Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Harris of 14 Washington terrace, was solemnized last evening in the ballroom of the Rex Club in Memphis, in the presence of 600 guests. The ceremony was performed before an altar banner with Easter lilies, palms and ferns by Rabbi W. E. Pineshriber. The aisle through which the bridal party passed was formed by palms and tall wicker flower stands filled with lilies. The bride's attendants were her sister, Mrs. Gilbert Schloss, matron of honor; Miss Laura May Harris of St. Louis, sister of the bridegroom, as maid of honor, and four bridesmaids, Miss Pauline Zeitler of St. Louis, Miss Amy Jonap of Cincinnati, Miss Louise Goldman and Miss Grace Poser of Memphis. Mr. Harris was attended by his brother, Marcus Harris, Jr., a lawyer, and his sister, Mrs. Jacob, Edward Marx, Leroy Goldman, Louis Leeb, Lawton Levy and G. Harris, all of St. Louis, as groomsmen, and Robert Joseph, Edward Marx and Morris Hirsch as ushers.

The bride wore a robe of chiffon over ivory bridal satin, hung with strands of pearls and rhinestones which fell below the hem of the gown. The bride was crowned with a veil of pearls and caught with long pearl ornaments at the sides, while orange blossoms held the high Elizabethan purr of tulle at the back of the coiffure. She carried a shower bouquet of pink orchids and lilies of the valley.

The matron of honor wore silver satin embroidered in silver thread. The draperies were caught at the sides by pearl ornaments, from which strands of pearls fell to an irregular length. The bridegroom wore a suit of silver metallic cloth, embroidered in pearls and rhinestones. She and the matron of honor carried lavender orchids, primroses, sweet peas and purple lilies, arranged in shepherd's crooks tied with lavender tulle bows to hang over their arms. The bridesmaids wore frocks of green chiffon fashioned alike. They were draped to the shoulders with heart ornaments and were adorned at the waist line with lavender velvet flowers and silver leaves. They carried shepherd crooks tied with lavender sweet peas, lilies, orchids and primroses.

A reception followed the ceremony. The bridal party, with the bride's mother and Mr. and Mrs. Harris, stood in a row of roses at one end of the ballroom. The musical program was arranged by Mrs. Sam Oppenheimer and included Massenet's "Eleine" and Drlas' "Sous le vent," and the singing of Cadman's "The Song of the Lark." Mr. and Mrs. Harris have departed for a two months' honeymoon trip to the Pacific Coast and through the Canadian Rockies, and will make their home in St. Louis. Out-of-town guests included Messrs. and Mrs. Alfred Vorhaus, J. Isaac, Ben Harris, G. Harris, all of St. Louis; Mr. and Mrs. Les-ley V. Marks and their daughter, Miss Edith Marks of Cincinnati; Mr. and Mrs. William Cohn of Pittsburgh and Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Feurth of New York.

The bride was educated at Milwaukee Downer and made her debut last year at the Rex Club in Memphis. Mr. Harris is a member of the Missouri Athletic Association and the Chicago and Westwood Country Clubs.

Nothing will be given. The society is planning a "Drawing Room" to be given at the home of Mrs. Bessie Ten Brook in April and a lawn party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Montague Punch at 2 Yale avenue, University City, the first week in June.

Mrs. Wilson P. Hunt of Normandy and her daughter, Miss Anne Hunt, will return Sunday from Florida, where they have spent the winter.

Mrs. Thomas G. Ratcliffe of 50 Kingsbury place was hostess at an informal luncheon this afternoon in honor of her guest, Miss Molly Housh of New York. Mrs. Oscar Johnson has sent out invitations for a musical to be given in her honor Friday evening.

Miss Marian Stoner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Stoner, of 4346 Westminster place, and Miss Lenore Scullin, and her mother, Mrs. Lee Pettit Warren, of Washington, D. C., are spending the Easter vacation at Hot Springs, Va. Miss Scullin, and her mother, formerly lived in St. Louis.

Miss Stephanie Jarvis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kent Jarvis of Webster Groves, will be hostess at a dinner this evening complimentary to Miss Virginia Deacon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Deacon, who is home from Smith College for the Easter vacation.

The Society of St. Louis Authors will give a dinner this evening at the American Annex, followed by a literary program. Alexander de Menik is president of the society, and Mrs. Harry Wagoner, secretary and treasurer.

PRISONER SAID TO BE "DRESSED UP JOHNNY"

Man in Jail at Benton, Ill., Identified as Former Convict and Safe Robber.

A man arrested yesterday at Hermitage, Ill., was identified today in the jail at Benton, Ill., by tattoo marks as John H. Gardner, also known as "Dressed Up Johnny," a former convict who has been sought by the police and penitentiary inspectors of the entire country since 1915 as the leader of a gang of safe robbers that has looted more than 25 banks and post-offices in Illinois.

The prisoner would not admit his identity, although the initials "J. H. G." tattooed on his right arm, and a woman's head tattooed on his left arm, correspond with the description of the much-wanted man.

Arrested at Hermitage, Ill., the man under arrest was "picked up" at Hermitage yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Henry Dorris, who saw him try to escape from a large blue car at an undertaking establishment. When asked if he was Gardner, Dorris having recognized the resemblance to the picture in a circular requesting the arrest of the bank burglar, the prisoner replied: "Find out who I am."

He later was transferred to Benton for safekeeping.

Fred W. Reuter, of the St. Louis branch of the Postoffice Inspection Department, who has known Gardner for years, departed for Benton last night to look at the prisoner. This morning railroad detectives, who had been seeking Gardner, identified the prisoner as the man wanted.

Gardner was convicted in 1919 on evidence furnished by the Burns Detective Agency in connection with a burglary of a bank at Chatsworth, Ill. He served five years of an indeterminate sentence in the Joliet penitentiary and in 1915 was paroled to report for a year.

Trained throughout U. S. When his parole terms had been completed with Gardner joined a gang of safe robbers, including several St. Louis police characters, and looted several banks and post-offices in Southern Illinois. In March, 1929, he was caught while escaping from the Trust-Matthews Bank at Champaign, Ill., the safe of which had been blown.

He was later released on a $5000 bond, which he jumped, and since then he had been trailed by the Burns agency throughout the United States and Canada.

In the last five years the members of Gardner's gang have been rounded up and sentenced to Federal prisons for postoffice burglaries. Among those convicted were Carlo Milan, alias "Sweetest," Urralio Ceciliano, Charles Marshall, Barney Childers, Joseph O'Leary, Charles Martin, John (Baldy) Venturo and Earl (Red) Bushop.

One Is Awaiting Trial. Another member of the gang, Timothy Lott, of St. Louis, is awaiting trial at Taylorville, Ill., in connection with the holdup of the Kincaid (Ill.) Trust and Savings Co., Aug. 13 last, when $25,000 payroll money belonging to the Kincaid Coal Mining Co. was stolen.

Several members of the gang were arrested in St. Louis two years ago in a raid on a house at Eleventh and Locust streets. The police and Burns operatives were seeking Gardner at the time.

NEW VENUE IN BURCH CASE
First Contingent Exhausted by Declarations of Those Named.

By the Associated Press
LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 23.—A new venue was summoned before Judge Reese today when the drawing of a jury was resumed for the trial of Arthur C. Burch, charged with the murder of J. Belton Kennedy. The first venire was exhausted yesterday when 17 of its 18 members declared they had scruples against capital punishment and one announced a fixed opinion concerning the case.

The Rev. and Mrs. W. A. Burch of Evanston, Ill., parents of the defendant, who arrived in Los Angeles, declared they would be in court with their son throughout the trial.

When Burch entered the courtroom yesterday he was seen to smile and wink at a spectator. Bailiff Clark Reeder declared that Burch was consuming a flirtation commenced Monday with what he termed "two Los Angeles flappers." Attendants at the outer doors of the courtroom said they had been instructed not to admit the two girls should they seek admittance again.

TAKE COUGH MEDICINE AND CASH
A bottle of cough medicine, apparently mistaken for liquor, and $2.15 was stolen from the home of Mayer Sachs, 4413 Evans avenue, early yesterday. Sachs reported he awakened at 4 a. m. and hearing a noise in the kitchen, got up. The burglar fled out a window and slid down a porch post to the ground and escaped, taking the medicine and money.

The same burglar is believed by the police to have been responsible for burglaries at the homes of John Dobson, 4431A Evans avenue, where $25 was stolen, and Samuel Richberg, 4445 Evans avenue, where $3.75 was stolen. The drug store of Edward A. Medler, Pope and Flourmont avenues, was entered by burglars last night and $100.10 stolen, with a tin box that had been hidden behind a prescription counter. Burglars in the home of Frank L. Kirk, 6335 Natural Bridge avenue, stole clothing and jewelry valued at $250.

NEW 3-COURSE GOLF CLUB BEING FORMED

350-Acre Site Northeast of Normandy Under Lease; Low Fee Plan of Organization.

The site of the new 45-hole golf club being organized on the basis of low fees and large membership was announced today as 350 acres northeast of the village of Normandy, St. Louis County, bounded on the north by the Woodstock road, on the west by Florissant road and on the east by Hunt road and Florissant avenue, a part of what has been known as Ford's tract.

The name of the new club will be the North Hills Country Club. Two 18-hole and one 9-hole courses have been laid out by a New York architect and work of clearing of the highways is in progress. It is expected that the courses will be completed to allow play within 12 months.

Other facilities designed to attract other than golf enthusiasts are planned in connection with the club. One is a large outdoor swimming pool. Another is a sort of "vacation village," a cluster of small cottages on a wooded portion of the tract, where members can spend indefinite periods. A similar feature is said to have had success in connection with the Olympia Fields Country Club in Chicago.

A clubhouse is being designed by T. P. Barnett, an architect. The general plan is for a dance floor, general cafe, men's grill, a large assembly room, with the usual lockers and shower baths. An effort will be made to complete the club house by September. Six tennis courts are planned.

The club has established a downtown office at 1359 Arcade building. Henry H. Hawke, former sales manager of the Traffic Truck Motor Corporation, so far the only person publicly identified with the project, said that the officers of the club would be announced this week. He said that the project had been two years in the making.

FLEET ON RIVER TO BE INCREASED DURING APRIL

Four Towboats and 19 Barges Now Assembled at Arsenal Here Awaiting Release by War Secretary.

CRAFT CONSTRUCTED FOR E. F. GOLTRA

Federal Manager Objects to Establishment of Competition With Government Operation.

The freight carrying facilities upon the Mississippi River will be augmented sometime during April by the commissioning of a fleet of four Government-constructed towboats and 19 barges now assembled at the Government arsenal at the foot of Arsenal street, awaiting formal release by the Secretary of War.

The fleet was constructed for lease to Edward F. Goltra, president of the Mississippi Valley Iron Co. to carry Illinois coal to St. Paul and bring back Minnesota iron ore for use in Goltra's blast furnace.

Will be Taken Over Fleet.

The impending coal strike and the industrial depression has destroyed possibility of that operation at this time. Goltra said yesterday, however, that he was willing to take over the fleet at once under the terms of his contract to operate it either upon the upper or lower river, wherever freight was offered.

He said that if the coal strike did not materialize or was of short duration, even though he had no immediate use for iron ore, he was ready to establish the fleet upon the upper river, carrying whatever upstream tonnage he could pick up and return with iron ore for stacking as a future supply for his furnace.

If the coal strike persists, he said, he was ready to establish the fleet in general traffic upon the lower river. He already has assurance of upstream cargoes of Mexican oil for a Wood River refinery and southern hardwood for the St. Louis market, he said.

Opposed by Brent.

As indicated last week in a Washington dispatch to the Post-Dispatch, this eventually has caused Theodore Brent, manager of the Government-operated fleet of nine towboats and 50 barges upon the lower river, to protest that Goltra thus would establish a direct competition with the Government operation which needs all the freight it can get to demonstrate fully that freight can move by river at a lower rate than by rail and at a profit to the river carrier.

Brent declares that if the new fleet is to become a general freight carrier, it should be added to the present fleet.

Goltra declined yesterday to comment on Brent's attitude. "Just say I am ready and eager to go ahead and have every reason to believe that the Secretary of War will deliver the boats to me," he said that he had already received permission to establish rates 20 per cent under rail rates, which is the Federal barge line tariff.

Goltra's contract provides that he must pay operating expenses, upkeep and 4 per cent upon the Government's investment of between $2,500,000 and $3,000,000. Any revenue above these items would go to the Government to be held in escrow for application to the purchase price if Goltra should elect to purchase the fleet. He is required in addition to give bond for performance of the contract and insure the fleet adequately.

Craft in the Fleet.

The towboats are the Illinois, Missouri, Iowa and Minnesota. They have 2000 horsepower, the most powerful on the river, and are stern-wheel type. The barges are 200 feet long and have a carrying capacity of 2500 tons. They have compartments for oil, molasses or bulk liquids of similar character. The oil capacity is about 1500 tons.

... barges are distinctly different from the lower river barges in that they are designed for bulk freight which can be exposed to the weather. The lower river barges have cargo houses for first-class package freight.

Value in Sectional Cabinets

The greatest value to the user is secured in standardizing on that line offering the largest variety of devices and having the most possibilities of arrangement. Globe-Wernicke Cabinets, in both variety of devices and sizes, are unequalled.

Globe-Wernicke Steel Half Sections

(Made also in wood)

In the illustration above at the right is shown a stack of full width sections, 33 inches wide. Next to it stands a stack of half sections, 16 1/2 inches wide, and beside that the individual sections comprising it. Note that the half section stack if placed against the full section will line up perfectly and form one cabinet.

The half sections, like the full sections, can be fitted with practically any device wanted in an office—files for letters, documents, card indexes, catalogs, checks, or plain drawers, cupboards, roller shelves and other devices not shown.

The small business can start in a small way and additions made to care for increased business regardless of its growth.

News of the Business World

By Wire to the Post-Dispatch

March 29.
NEW ORLEANS—The growing menace from floods along the lower Mississippi River is beginning to curtail business throughout the threatened districts. New Orleans jobbers are feeling the effect and expect the influence on trade to grow greater before the danger is over. Notwithstanding this there has been a perceptible improvement in the distribution of merchandise. Retail trade still is quiet except in lines suitable for Easter wear.

Financial conditions are improving in this district. The Louisiana State banks have reduced their bills payable from $11,000,000 to $11,000,000 in the period between Jan. 1 and to date. During the same period their customers have reduced their loans $11,000,000 and deposits have increased $4,500,000.

Figures available so far indicate a large increase in imports here this month. Revenue collections are estimated at about $1,000,000 larger than any sum collected here. Heavy importations of sugar, for which there has been a revival of demand, are largely responsible for the increase.

Orders for Southern pine lumber have increased 25 per cent within the week, and 50 per cent since March 1. The new business is running about 20 per cent above production.

CHICAGO FASHION EXHIBITS

CHICAGO—Spring has come, but so has the rainy season and the business has not yet begun to feel the impetus that normally attends the new season. Nevertheless, the big retail stores are going ahead with their fashion exhibits and women are turning out and gaiters. The stores are making an especial appeal this season to women who are making their own clothes. Not only are colorful fabrics being shown, but almost life size drawings are provided showing how they may be made up into attractive costumes.

Men's wear stores are pressing their advertising campaign, but with less response than in the women's line. Some of a quality which commanded $10 each last year are being sold generally at $10. Jobbers and wholesalers continue to receive encouraging reports from men on the road.

The industrial situation in this district is little changed this week, although the steel output is increasing. Structural steel, tank fastenings and steel drive fence posts are in strong demand in this market. The United States Steel Corporation is running its local plants at about 70 per cent of capacity, while the leading independents are running at 80 per cent.

MERCHANTS MADE CAUTIOUS

PHILADELPHIA—About 100,000 men are reported as preparing to stop work in the anthracite fields of Pennsylvania and this naturally is having an adverse effect on business. Merchants in the mining towns have been very cautious about adding to the stocks on hand. Wholesalers and jobbers here have felt this curtailment of orders.

To offset this drag on business is the revival of construction work throughout this district. This is affording employment for thousands of mechanics and men in the building trades and is making an excellent demand for building materials with consequent increase of activity among producers. Since the middle of February unemployment in Eastern Pennsylvania has decreased about 7 per cent. There is little change in the activity of the steel mills of the eastern part of the State, but the textile mills are working on enlarged schedules. Textile manufacturers are warning the New England labor situation closely, for a reduction in operating costs in the mills there, they claim, would put local manufacturers at a disadvantage unless there is a similar reduction in the mills here.

BUSINESS TOPICS

NEW YORK—Eastern shippers are hurrying the dispatch of goods to the Orient in the hope of getting them away before the re-shipment war along the Pacific Coast ports to the Orient is settled. Cuts in all lines of freight are reported here to be very heavy and it is said lumber is being booked for Oriental destination at $1 a thousand feet from North Pacific ports.

FORT WORTH, Tex.—The American Railway Express Co. reports that shipments have increased heavily in this district. In preparation for a return of small package business, the company has ordered 1000 packing trucks which are used to handle small packages. This increase in express shipments is taken as an indication of betterment in business conditions generally.

LEATHER

BOSTON—With the growth in pay rolls in the industrial plants in this territory, the dry goods business is expanding and there is a good demand for spring goods. Collections are easier.

BOSTON—The tanneries of the American Hide & Leather Co., makers of upper leathers, are running from 10 to 100 per cent of capacity, with the average about 75 per cent. This is much better than makers of sole leathers are doing.

RUBBER

NEW YORK—The rubber market continues very sensitive to either depression or encouraging influence. There is a slightly greater show of interest among buyers in evidence.

COTTONS

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—Twelve of the cotton mills which for a time were closed down by the strike of mill operatives are running on schedules ranging from 25 to 100 per cent of capacity. About 15,000 workers still are out.

Reading in a berth

Did you do much traveling a generation ago? If you did, you recall that there were no lights in the berths of the sleeping cars. Next time you turn the switch and settle down to read in your berth, vote a little thanks to storage batteries, which made electric light possible on railway trains. The current generated from the axle of the moving car is stored for use by Exide Batteries on many of the country's leading railroads.

Every time your foot touches the starting-pedal of an automobile you are paying unconscious tribute to Exide Batteries. The first automobile with standard starting and lighting equipment had an Exide Battery. That same fine car has used the Exide ever since. More automobiles leave the manufacturers' hands equipped with Exides than with any other battery.

If ever there was a product where experience counts, it is a storage battery. Built into the Exide is the experience of the oldest and largest manufacturers of storage batteries in the world.

The Exide, made for your car, is a real battery for real service. It is rugged and long-lasting. You will find it a comfort and an economy.

Armstrong's Linoleum

for Every Floor in the House

Her neighbors were surprised

They did not know such a floor as this was possible

THEY had linoleum in their kitchens, tacked down. But here was a floor made with a kind of linoleum they had never seen—not tacked down, but cemented down firmly over builders' deadening felt.

It was quiet and restful to the tread. Firm but not hard. Easy to clean, and in color harmony with the furniture and decorations. It made a perfect setting for the rugs. It looked more like a real floor than any floor they had ever seen.

People who have seen modern linoleum floors laid in the proper way have a new idea of linoleum and a new idea of beauty, durability, economy and comfort in floor-making.

We have a little booklet, "Decorative Linoleum Floors," containing twenty-four colorplates, showing Jaspés, carpet inlays, parquet inlays, marble tiles, printed designs, etc. This booklet will be sent free on request. You can take it to a store and show the merchant exactly what you want to see. Any store will give you estimates of the cost of Armstrong's Linoleum put down in your home.

cathartics—

one of the chief causes of constipation?

DID it ever occur to you that the cathartic you take to relieve constipation, is the cause of your trouble?
Yet when a number of doctors were discussing this almost universal complaint one of them said: "Probably one of the most frequent causes of constipation is the indiscriminate use of cathartics." For years physicians have tried to persuade people to give up laxatives and to eat corrective foods instead.

It is now known that Fleischmann's Yeast is a food which makes the use of cathartics unnecessary. Because of its freshness it helps the intestines eliminate waste matter.

People who are adding Fleischmann's Yeast to their daily diet find that their body functions are kept normal and regular. Eat 4 or 5 cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast before or between meals every day. Place a standing order with your grocer. He will deliver Fleischmann's Yeast fresh daily.

WIRTH CRITICISES ALLIED HANDLING OF REPARATIONS ISSUE

Chancellor Points to Genoa Conference as Only Hope of Relief From "Spirit of Arbitrary Dictation."

By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, March 29.—The Genoa conference will either be a shining star or a will o' the wisp, Chancellor Wirth told the Reichstag yesterday at the conclusion of discussion of reparation commission decisions.
"If the Genoa conference proves a will o' the wisp instead of a shining star that will brighten the path to reconstruction," he added, "then the problem of rehabilitating Europe in general and Germany in particular, will continue to be treated in a spirit of arbitrary dictation."
The Chancellor was unusually frank in his criticism of the Allied treatment of the reparations problem, charging that the commission either was unamenable to every-day logic or had persistently neglected to account itself with the actual status of Germany's economic situation. The reparations decision, accompanied by a letter which the Chancellor said was couched in a needlessly severe tone, not only had aroused national indignation, but incidentally had added 28,000,000,000 marks to the German budget in consequence of the unprecedented slump of the mark which set in automatically with the note's arrival.
Denies There Is Waste.
Denying that the German Government was wasteful in the conduct of its administrative organism, the speaker said that two Eastern Generals are receiving more pay than President Ebert and the entire Cabinet.
With regard to the question of an international loan, Dr. Wirth hoped the Government soon would be able to start active negotiations. A moratorium, he said, would have definitely stabilized the German exchange.
In the course of his analysis of the various points in the reparations decisions, Dr. Wirth rejected the demand that the German Government levy an additional tax of 60,000,000,000 marks on the ground that it was both a financial and technical impossibility.
Liberal applause greeted the declaration that the German Government must politely decline the suggestion of financial and economic guardianship.
"Need a Breathing Spell."
"We are badly in need of a breathing spell," he said, "in order to coordinate our affairs and put the financial and economic measures adopted into active practice."
The only comfort afforded the Reparations Commission by the Government's statement was conveyed in the promise that Germany would proceed to inaugurate the most stringent economy in all governmental departments. The Government would also subject the commission's recommendations to a further scrutiny in an endeavor to arrive at a mutual working basis.
Alluding early in his speech to the taxation compromise which had been reached by the good will of the opposing parties in the Reichstag, Dr. Wirth said it would form an integral part of Germany's foreign policy which, however, would become involved and disturbed by the Reparations Commission's demands. Germany's direct taxation, he declared, was developing on a scale unparalleled in the world.
The Reichstag was crowded and the Chancellor frequently was applauded, his speech apparently winning favor with all except the communist party.

ROOSEVELT STATUE FOR CITY
Western Friend of Former President Makes Gift to Portland, Ore.
PORTLAND, Ore., March 29.—Admiration for Theodore Roosevelt as a man and citizen prompted Dr. Henry Waldo Coe, a Portland physician, who knew Roosevelt as a cowboy in North Dakota, to give to the city of Portland an equestrian statue of the former President. The statue is now being made by Phinister Proctor, sculptor. It is expected to be completed some time this summer and President Warren G. Harding has been asked to officiate at the unveiling.
The statue is of heroic size, being 13 feet high above the base. An architect is to be engaged to design the base, which will be about 10 feet high. A site for the statue has been chosen in a central park. Dr. Coe plans to place somewhere in North Dakota the cast from which the statue is made. Maudslayi and Bismarck have asked for it.

PINOCHLE PROWESS OF FIREMEN MILLER'S TOPIC

Relative Duties, Pay and Privileges of Departments Discussed by Police Head.

The pinochle propensities and pinochle prowess of city firemen were discussed by Victor J. Miller, president of the Police Board, in a Board discussion yesterday afternoon of the relative duties and pay of policemen and firemen.

According to city officials attending the meeting, Miller declared that St. Louis firemen were "the best pinochle players in the world." Miller said today that he did not remember having attributed world superiority to them, but that, what he said as nearly as he could remember it was:

"The firemen can sit down in their engine houses and play pinochle when there is nothing else to do but a policeman has to keep walking all the time. If he sits down for 15 minutes and an inspector finds him, he's out of luck."
Miller announced last week that he was going to take a vacation, following the controversy caused by his charges as to the existence of an immoral club or clubs at Seltzer High School. He also said he had quit talking for publication, and would be "the sphinx kid" as he expressed it, hereafter.

In Accustomed Place.
But yesterday with the important matter of the year's Police Department budget up for discussion, he was in his accustomed place at the Board meeting, and his remarks soon became chatty and discursive.

The members of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment were in attendance to consult with the Board on the budget. The Police Department is asking for $1,500,000 for the coming year, an increase of $200,000 over last year. A part of this increase is to cover a 1 per cent increase in policemen's pay, this extra amount to be turned over to a pension fund to pay aged and disabled policemen 60 per cent of their former salary.

Comptroller Nolte said that if the policemen received an increase, the firemen would demand an equal amount, the pay of the two now practically on an equality. Miller replied that there was no comparison between the duties of policemen and those of firemen, and made the remark as to pinochle playing.

Chief Panser of the Fire Department, commenting on Miller's remarks as to the diversions of firemen, said today:

"The members of the Fire Department are not bothering their heads about what Victor Miller says. The firemen do not play pinochle when there is anything else for them to do.
There is no card playing in the morning. In the afternoon, when there is no call on them, the men are permitted to play pinochle, or solitaire, or other games, on the second floor of the engine houses."

"What's Victor Doing Here?"
"Probably there are some firemen who wouldn't make good policemen, and there are some policemen who wouldn't make good firemen. What is Victor Miller doing here, anyway?
I thought he was on a vacation."

Adam Koenig, president of the Fire Fighters' Union, said:
"Mr. Miller says a lot of things besides his prayers. I happen to play pinochle sometimes, and they are waiting for an alarm. When they are found that they are not talking about other people and making charges that they cannot prove."
"Noting out of every 100
firemen would make good policemen, and there are a lot of them who would make as good a president of the Police Board as the one it now has. At least, they wouldn't talk so much."

"Mr. Miller hasn't proved his charges against the schools yet, and he will not get any farther in trying to disgrace the firemen."

Boxing Ordinance Recalled.

At the Police Board session, Miller and President Aioe of the Board of Aldermen engaged in a discussion of Miller's attitude toward the Boxing Commission ordinance, now before the courts.

Miller said the money needed for an increase in the police budget could be provided by revenue measures, and suggested a soft drink tax.
Aioe replied that a measure of that kind was passed, and vetoed by the Mayor, and that the Boxing Commission ordinance, which Aioe said he introduced before the Aldermen as a revenue measure, was suggested by Miller, but that Miller opposed its enforcement. Miller questioned this and Aioe appealed to others present as to their recollections of a conference at which the matter was discussed.

Aioe said that after Miller's action regarding the boxing ordinance, he deferred introducing any further revenue measures. Miller said he would not propose a boxing measure for revenue only, and that the ordinance being now before the courts,
he was ready to follow the Court ruling on the matter.

RAILROAD SHARES FEATURE TRADING ON STOCK MARKET

Several New High Records—Bonds Are Firm—Two Liberty Issues Reach New Tops on Movement—Steel Situation.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, March 29.—The Evening Post, in its copyrighted financial review today, says: "With trading moderately active, stock prices continued their recovery today. Fractional gains were common among industrials, where short covering was in evidence, but the real strength was displayed among rails. Advances of 1 point or better were the rule in this group, and several new high records were recorded. Bonds were firm with strength in Liberty's feature, two of the latter making new highs. Call money, after opening at 4 1/2 per cent, was raised to 4 3/4 per cent during the noon hour and to 5 during the fourth hour.

Exchange Market Dull. "Speculation persisted in the foreign exchange market and price changes were for the most part insignificant. Sterling was 1/4 cent higher at $4.87, but French francs fell 1/2 cent to 5.09 cents. Similar irregularly experienced in other parts of the list, there being little desire either to buy or to sell. Stock prices were firm with an amount of strength in advancing 1/2 points to 4 1/2 cents, apparently on the belief that the ill-judged military adventures in Asia Minor are now at an end.

Cotton trading also showed little life. The news from New Zealand was not particularly encouraging. Certain observers believing that the wage reductions now spread in the woolen branch of the textile industry, rains in the Southern Atlantic states and firmness at Liverpool helped to sustain the market, however, and may hold only 4 points at a late price of 17 1/2 cents. Wheat prices went up and down and the result was small. Interest in new developing in the Government crop report which will be given out on April 2.

Steel Industry Situation. "Buying of steel still continues to be good and the market is approximately 75 per cent of capacity for the steel corporation and 60 per cent for the independent. In addition, prices are firm, but little business has as yet been booked at the 150 cent level, recently announced by the independent producers. The American Iron and Steel Institute, however, reports, meanwhile, that the upmost consideration with both the producers and consumers is whether in the wake of the large business put on the books at low prices there will be buying sufficient to sustain the price advances. The question decidedly is an open one, particularly as jobbers are reported to be supplied for three or four months.

With the coal strike only a few days off, the steel trade is firmly convinced that no serious scarcity of fuel can occur. This view is amply substantiated, since production has increased appreciably since the first of the year and since larger stocks of coal have been accumulated by consumers, a circumstance which is testified to by a distinct softening in coal prices during the past two weeks. Reports from the steel industry will be particularly interesting during the early part of April because they will go far toward indicating how much industry has been stimulated by the threatened strike. They will also shed light on the question of whether the recent increases in steel prices were merely a normal affair after most of the business in sight has been booked or whether it represents something of a more encouraging character."

The Investment Market. NEW YORK, March 29.—Liberty issues were leaders of today's active bond market, the active series displaying marked strength in the first half of the session.

The first and second 4s and all the 4 1/2s rose to highest prices for the current movement, gaining 6 to 10 cents per hundred dollars. Foreign bonds were irregularly mixed. Mexican Government is gaining 1 point while several of the European and South American issues were mixed.

St. Paul was strongest of the domestic rails, gaining 1 point. Denver and Rio Grande, St. Louis & San Francisco, Canadian Pacific, Chesapeake & Ohio, and the American Southern & Pacific were also strong. Public Service of New Jersey is registered gains extending from large fractions to 1 1/2 points. The demand for Liberty Bonds and other leaders eased moderately later, but in the main gains were maintained.

General Motors Dividend.

DETROIT, March 29.—Directors of General Motors Corporation meeting in New York yesterday, declared the regular quarterly dividend, amounting to $1.00 a share, payable on March 30, 1934, to holders of record as of March 27, 1934. The dividend is the same as last year's dividend. The company's earnings for the first quarter of 1934, however, were $1,000,000, compared with $800,000 for the same period last year.

Bank of Germany Statement. BERLIN, March 29.—The statement of the Bank of Germany, issued at Berlin today, shows the balance sheet as of March 23, 1934, and the profit and loss account for the first quarter of 1934. The balance sheet shows assets of 1,000,000,000 marks, and liabilities of 1,000,000,000 marks. The profit and loss account shows a profit of 1,000,000 marks for the first quarter of 1934.

Metals at St. Louis. Lead was quoted at $4.40 per 100 lbs. and zinc at $14.00 per 100 lbs. Copper was quoted at $15.00 per 100 lbs. and tin at $20.00 per 100 lbs.

Wall Street News and Comment

NEW YORK, March 29.—The main consideration in the financial situation today was the continuing ease in money rates, the improvement depicted in many of the monthly railway statements and the tone of the weekly steel trade reviews.

The fact that the rebound in call money quotations had been checked and that the renewal charge had all back again a trifle from 4 1/2 to 4 per cent gave impetus to the demand for investment securities. Liberty bonds went higher, and so did the general average of corporation issues.

The reports of increasing railway tonnage and of some remarkable operating results for last month apparently were the basis of the general rise in the financial market, and the strength in many of the rail stocks.

The stocks of companies which depend on the principal revenue from the transportation of coal did not weaken, but were among the strongest features in the trading.

Today's bond market picked up further strength and if anything was broader than yesterday's market. Heavy buying of railroad bonds occurred in many of the industrial issues. The railway mortgages, on account of many favorable reports, were particularly strong.

With few exceptions, among them the French municipal A.M. Mexican 6s and Sao Paulo 5s, foreign Government loans were unchanged. A recovery in Mexico is followed the rather sharp decline toward the close of the preceding day, and the Danish and Sao Paulo bonds reached record highs.

Reports from the steel centers found some reflection in the advance of a new top in the United States Steel Corporation sinking fund 5s and the steadiness of Midvale Steel 5s. Sugar bonds gained fractionally.

New highs were made in the railway group by Southern Pacific 6s, later 4s, Southern Railway 6s and an outstanding feature, Iron Mountain 4s, Long Island refunding 4s and Norfolk & Southern 5s. # FRESCOS MAY CONTAIN PORTRAITS OF APOSTLES Likeness of Christ Also Thought to Exist in Pictures Excavated at Rome.

Rome, March 27.—Archaeologists are only just beginning to realize the historical and artistic importance of the second century frescoes, believed to be portraits of the 12 Apostles and Christ, which were discovered here two years ago during some building excavations.

Prof. Randoth Lanciani, the eminent archaeologist, explained that the pictures were found when the excavations for a taxicab garage outside the Porta Maggiori, an ancient Christian hypogeum or underground structure was discovered.

"It is undoubtedly one of the most important archaeological finds of our century," he continued, "the paintings on the walls represent unmistakably the 12 Apostles. The unique value of the paintings, however, is in the fact that up to the present we have had no pictorial representation of the Apostles before the fourth century, while those in the hypogeum are at least 200 years earlier."

"According to some archaeologists these paintings must have been made while the Apostles were still alive, but my personal opinion is that the artist lived in the second century after Christ. This opinion is strengthened by the fact that some of the bricks of the tombs included in the hypogeum bear the name of Domitilla Lucilla (mother of Marcus Aurelius), with the date 137 A. D."

"It is also remarkable that the artist painted the scenes in such a way as to escape pagan persecution. The personages are represented, both with regard to their dress and their attitudes, in such a way as to appear pagans, while there is no shadow of doubt that they are meant for Christians."

NEW YORK, March 29.—New York authorities on archaeological and ecclesiastical art were deeply interested yesterday in the photographs, the first to reach the United States, of copies made by O. Ferretti of the original "apostle" fresco, whose position is such that it may not be photographed directly.

The learned discussions of this fresco that have been going on during the last two years—notably by G. Rendinelli, director of excavations for the Italian Government—have been of course, familiar to New York authorities. These discussions all point to a place of supremacy in early Christian art for the fresco, although Mr. Wilmet, the Vatican expert on paintings of that era, has reserved his judgment.

Edward Robinson, director of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, examined the photographs with interest but said while he and the other experts of the museum had read a great deal about the discovery, none had ventured an opinion.

EFFECT OF "STRAIGHT TICKET" VOTING DISCUSSED BY BARRETT

Attorney-General Assesses Practice Tends to Create "Political Birds of Prey."

By the Associated Press.
COLUMBIA, Mo., March 23.—Attorney-General Jesse W. Barrett came to Columbia last night and passed through the initiation ceremonies of Phi Delta Phi, national law fraternity, of which he becomes the second honorary member of the University of Missouri chapter. Gen. Enock L. Crowder is the other honorary member.

Voting a party ticket straight, Attorney-General Barrett told members of the law fraternity at a banquet after the initiation, tends to raise a crop of parasites who will sacrifice everything except selfish interest. The voter having already pledged them his unconditional lifetime support, regardless of what they may say or do.

"I wish the good folks out in the counties could see and know certain political birds of prey which they have not only tolerated, but which by blindness of their partnership they have created," said Barrett. Partnership begins in honest intentions, sincere enthusiasm and loyalty. Too often it ends in prejudice, attended with blindness and deafness among its followers, and giving opportunity for the rise of a group of professional politicians, not at all blind and deaf, who are experts in exploitation. Strange to say, among those professional there is no party loyalty at all, but only a mock loyalty.

"No one has the right to vote a straight ticket unless every man on that ticket is straight. A Republican or a Democrat can do his party no better service than by defeating at the polls that nominee who would have misrepresented his party."

books by English writers on American history and institutions. While giving due praise to the works of Lord Bryce, Sir George Trevelyan and Lecky, he had come to the conclusion he said, that English people only read American historians when they were not talking about their own country.

FABLES for the FAIR

THE SAME OLD CROP

By Marguerite Mooers Marshall.

MORAL: A Reformed Wild-Oat
Sower Makes the Best Pecksniff.

HE was a wild, wild Eager Young Radical.
And Greenwich Village heard him howl!

He came from small-town New England,
But was doing his best to live it down.
He would have preferred to be born
in Russia,
Or on the East Side, for second choice.

And he admitted a Harvard degree only as a preface to explaining what is wrong with our kept colleges—
How they exist merely to defend an outworn economic system,
And to suppress thought among America's young intellectuals;
The Eager Young Radical, as I have hinted, was a Free Spirit—

Free as his verse—freer!
He could explain, so that you almost believed him,
How the Russian Revolution solved
all the problems of Labor and Capital.

And why Amy Lowell writes better poetry than Browning or Byron,
And what's the matter with America,
from the viewpoint of the Intelli-gentia.

But—being a YOUNG Radical—
His subject was sex!
He knew almost as much about it as Kipling's cocky young men.

(Although he would have told you, magnificently, that "nobody reads Kipling any more!") Nevertheless, exactly like the youthful R. K.,
Our E. Y. R. believed that "You may carve it on his tombstone,
you may cut it on his card—
A young man married is a young man married!"

The only blessed difference was that, when the E. Y. R. expressed such a sentiment
He took great care not to rhyme it.
Like another Kipling Boy Scout,
He believed, of the ladies, that
"takin' 'em all along,
You never can tell till you've tried
'em!"

And that it was a good idea to try,
try, again—try as many as possible—
Since, during each trial, you "learned about women from 'er."

His friends will tell you that he invented week-end marriage.
Although, personally, I think Adam and Lilith were the first to explore the fascinating possibilities of periodic or part-time matrimony!
Nevertheless, the E. Y. R. put the phrase—if not the institution—into circulation.

He told the world—and the girls—how badly domesticity had been overdone.
And that No Love Could Survive soft-boiled eggs seven times a week for breakfast.

(He considered it No Argument, when you suggested that married life was never like this, even in the Victorian family.
Which frequently changed off to creamed codfish or sausage and buckwheats.
For the matutinal meal.)
But although he talked the new talk,
About the superiority of Petteless
Love to the Divine Institution—
He sowed the old crop!
Until, having "taken his fun where he found it"
For some few years,
He got—
No, not religion, not even an interest in Father's carpet mill.
Although either would have been equally effective;
But, being an E. Y. R. of the twentieth century,
He got psycho-analyzed.
He afterward referred to it as a Turning Point in His Life.
For he learned that he'd been All Wrong.

Therefore, just as the Kipling Bad
Boy of yesteryear Pulled up, sooner or later, and married a Nice Girl,
So the E. Y. R.—what did he do but ask an estimable young person To be his wife from Monday to Friday, as well as from Friday to Monday.
And for fifty-two weeks in the year;
To be the mother of his children!
He moved from the Village to Villa-ville, N. J.
He got a commutation ticket—and a Job!
He is now not only a Commuter—
but a Father!

And he's on his way to being a pillar of Society.
All his old friends are wondering how long he will stand it—
As for him, he's wondering how he EVER stood them!

So true it is that a Reformed Wild Oat-Sower makes the best Pecksniff!

And, if you want another moral,
"Once I was young and now I am—older!"
Is the end of every man's desire To put sex on an extra-domestic basis!

NUT TORTE

TWO-THIRDS cup chopped walnuts, two-thirds cup sugar, two-thirds cup cracker crumbs, four eggs. Beat sugar and yolks, add cracker crumbs and nuts and well-beaten whites. Flavor. Bake in moderate oven about one-half hour.
When cold, spread with tart jelly.
On top of jelly put a layer of macaroons and lady fingers, then a thick layer of whipped cream. Decorate with more macaroons and lady fingers.

No. 75—The Rejected Soldiers.
TAKE the four jacks from a pack of playing cards and lay them face up on the table. State that the jacks came before the draft board, but only two of them were accepted for service. Which two were rejected, and why?

The answer is the jack of hearts and the jack of spades, for the simple reason that each of those jacks has only one eye, whereas the others have no such deficiency. It should be noted which jacks in the deck
you use have but one eye.

MACARONI SALAD

COOK the macaroni in the usual manner in boiling salted water.
Blanch with cold water, drain and chilled thoroughly. To each pint of the macaroni add an equal amount of chopped celery or cabbage, a tablespoon of grated onion, two tablespoons of chopped parsley or green pepper, and two pinches of chopped finely. Moisten with mayonnaise and serve on lettuce.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

Farmer Brown's Boy Returns

By Thornton W. Burgess

No task so pleasant is the end
Will not an added pleasure lend.

—Farmer Brown's Boy.

FARMER BROWN'S BOY whistled merrily as he tramped through the Green Forest. He was on his way back to the sugar house. The sugar season was about over. He and his father had taken most of the sugar and the syrup home. There was only a little remaining at the sugar house to be carried home. There was still some syrup in the evaporator to be drawn off into cans. When this was done he would have the job of thoroughly cleaning the evaporator and putting things in order in the sugar house.
Then it would be locked up until the next year. Farmer Brown's Boy always enjoys the sugar season. It means hard work, but there is a lot of fun with it. However, he was glad that this season was almost over, for it had been long and hard. So he whistled merrily as he tramped through the Green Forest.

As he drew near the sugar house he abruptly stopped whistling and stood still. There were strange noises coming from the direction of the sugar house. There was a clat-tering of tin and strange little squeals and cries and the sound of things being knocked about. Such a look of surprise as swept over the face of Farmer Brown's Boy. "Now, what under the sun does this mean?"
he exclaimed, and started to run toward the sugar house.

Now Sammy Jay had discovered those two little Bears when they entered the sugar house and he had been hanging around ever since to see what would happen. Sammy never misses anything if he can help it. When the Merry Little Bears slammed that door Sammy could have hugged himself for joy.

"Those little Bears are trapped!" he exclaimed. "Just wait till Farmer Brown's Boy gets back!"

Of course, Sammy heard the racket going on in that sugar house, and although he couldn't see he could guess just about what was happening in there. He was so excited that he couldn't sit still. When he saw Farmer Brown's Boy coming Sammy screamed a warning. The little Bears inside the sugar house heard that warning. They knew that someone was coming. They stopped racing about. They sought the darkest corner and there they clung to each other in silence and waited.

So it happened that as Farmer
Brown's Boy drew near the sugar house all was silent. Outside the door he stopped and listened. Not a sound was to be heard from inside.

"That is queer," muttered Farmer Brown's Boy. "There was certainly racket enough in there a few minutes ago. I expected to find this door open. I closed it when I left early this morning, but I don't see how anybody could get in without opening the door, unless I failed to latch it and it swung open. But here it is, closed and latched.

Twice he put his hand up to open that door and twice he hesitated. He didn't know what he expected to find in there and it gave him a queer feeling. Finally he lifted the latch and threw the door open. As he did so he stepped back. All was still. No one came out of that open door.
Cautiously Farmer Brown's Boy peered inside. "My land of Goshen!"
he exclaimed as he got his first good glimpse of the inside of that sugar house.

Woolen soft and unshrunk washed this way
by makers of Ascher's Knit Goods

SIMON ASCHER & COMPANY
362 Fifth Avenue, New York

Lever Bros. Co.,
Cambridge, Mass.

Gentlemen:

Infants and children soil their clothes so quickly that we have had to give especial attention to the way our knitted garments are laundered.

Woolens will not shrink or stiffen if they are washed the proper way. When you find a sweater or cap or any knitted garment with the surface matted up, it usually means that a harsh soap has been used or that the garment has been rubbed.

Lux is ideal for woolens because it meets both conditions.
It is so pure that it cannot injure the sensitive wool fibre. Its thick lather does away with the rubbing of the garment even between the hands. This means that the delicate softness and beauty of the wool are preserved.

We are glad to see that the Lux advertising is teaching women the safe and gentle way to launder woolens.

Very truly yours,

SIMON ASCHER & COMPANY

MY FAVORITE STORIES

By IRVIN S. COBB

THE LEAST OF HIS WORRIES

DOWN in Southern Alabama a person of color was fetched into court to be arraigned for his preliminary hearing on a charge of wilful murder.

"Mose Tupper," said the Judge, contemplating the prisoner over his spectacles. "You are accused here of one of the most serious crimes known to our laws—to wit, the taking of a human life. Are you properly represented by counsel?"

"No, suh," said the darky cheerfully. "Well, have you talked to anyone about your defense since your arrest?"

"I told de Sheriff 'bout de shootin' when he come to my cabin to bring me heab," said the prisoner, "but that's all."

"And have you taken no steps whatever to engage a lawyer?"

"No, suh," said Mose. "I ain't got no money to be wastin' on lawyers. Dey tell me de lawyers is mighty costly."

"If you have no funds," insisted the Judge, "it lies within the power of the court to appoint an attorney to represent you without expense on your part."

"You needn't be botherin' yowself, Judge," answered Mose. "Well, what do you propose to do about this case?" demanded His Honor. "You must be properly defended—the law so provides."

"Jedge," said Mose, "er fur er I see concerned you kin jest let de matter drop."

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

By James J. Montague

WHAT'S THE USE?

It's rather comforting to read.
When work grows long, and pay grows shorter
And many, many things we need.
That every dollar's up a quarter.
This unexpected increment.
So shrewd economists advise us.
Will add just twenty-five per cent.
To what a long green dollar buys us.

However, at the corner store.
To which I lately took a dollar
And tried to make it purchase more.
You should have heard the grocer bellow:
The butcher seemed well pleased to take
The dollar, but the fellow told me
That it would buy the same sized steak
That for the last three years he's sold me.

The income tax collector said
(And looked the while extremely sour)
That, up to date, he hadn't read
About this added paying power.
I thought he might reduce my tax:
My arguments were long and many.
But simply nothing would relax
His greed to take my utmost penny.

It's nice to know, as I've explained.
Now work grows long and pay grows shorter.
That every dollar bill has gained
The added value of a quarter.
But that can hardly satisfy
An over-worked and hungry poet
When all the folks from whom I buy
The things I need refuse to know it.
